Violet, a New Testament student, leads morning devotion!

Greeting Families and Supporters,

As I look out my window at the stark beauty of winter, where trees stand bare against the cold sky, it's evident that a season of quiet reflection unfolds. However, I am reminded of the symbolism as I reflect on my own life. The bare trees remind me that just as nature undergoes a period of introspection and preparation for the coming spring, so do we experience seasons of challenge and growth. In this tranquil moment, it is important to draw parallels with the teachings of Jesus, finding comfort in the assurance of renewal and new beginnings. As the trees await the touch of spring, so too do we find inspiration in the promise of hope, reminding us that with faith, resilience, and the enduring spirit of love, there is always the potential for new life to blossom from the challenges of winter. Wishing you warmth, hope, and the anticipation of the renewed growth that is only found in Jesus! Blessings, Mrs. Kosmerchok

VERSE FOR TODAY: We were made in God's image. Not just the man, the male. Not just the woman, the female. Both males and females are made in God's image! They are each precious to God. Incredibly, this is not just true before the Fall before sin entered the world and made a mess of everything. When God made us and knew us in the womb of our birth mother, he made us in his image. Because people are precious to God because we each reflect something of the character of our Creator, each person is to be valued. None is to be denigrated, belittled, or cursed. People are precious, not only to God but also to us because, in some special way, each of us reflects the multifaceted nature and image of God.
