Greeting Families and Supporters,

Next week is my favorite holiday - Thanksgiving! It is a time to take moment to reflect on your life, the year that passed, the loved ones that went home to Jesus, and all those that have impacted each day. As I reflect on my year I am thankful for so many people - my dad and Sue, my siblings and their spouses, my husband, children and grandchildren! I am also thankful for those at Wolf River that continue to amaze me with their generosity and kindness each day - my teachers who teach God's children, Mrs. B. for all she does to help me each and every day, my students that walk through the doors ready to learn, for our parents and guardians that entrust their children to us, for all the donors and supporters that give so that we are able to be in this amazing place, and all the volunteers that give of their time and talents! Wolf River is an amazing place because of all of you! Thank you!!! I am most thankful for my Lord Jesus Christ - for showering me with grace and forgiveness even when I don't deserve it! Have a wonderful Thanksgiving! May the Lord continue to bless and keep you! Blessings, Mrs. Kosmerchok

VERSE FOR TODAY: Dear friend of Jesus, have patience with those around you who are not yet what God intends for them to be — remembering that you are not yet all that God intends for you to be. As you "bear with" their "failings", you may find that others are patient with your failings and are more thankful for your faithfulness than you realize. Of course, the goal of being patient isn't to benefit ourselves. Instead, we do it to bless others, knowing that many of our brothers and sisters in Christ are hanging on to their faith, hope, and love by the thinnest of threads. Let's never let them go and never cause them to stumble!

We who are strong ought to bear with the failings of the weak and not to please ourselves. - Romans 15:1 -
