Corina & Teagan led chapel at St. James and pictured with them is future Silver Eagle Ethan!

Greeting Families and Supporters,

Today Corina and Teagan helped me lead the chapel service at St. James. I enjoyed sharing my faith with little children. Today we spoke about baptism and how simple water becomes so much more in baptism. Also, that the Trinity - the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit were at Jesus' baptism. How amazing is that! I enjoy spending time at our Lutheran elementary schools. What a blessing it is to have four Lutheran elementary schools in our area!

Blessings, Mrs. Kosmerchock

BAKED GOODS NEEDED - Mrs. K. is in need of baked goods for Saturday, December 9th at the Christmas Extravaganza. If you are baking for your family, please consider donating 2 plates of goodies. Thank you!

HELPERS NEEDED - Student workers are needed Friday, December 8th from 3:20 - 6 p.m. and Saturday, December 9th starting at 7 am to help vendors and crafters unload their cars. Student workers are also needed throughout the day on Saturday caring items for shoppers. Thank you for your consideration.

VERSE FOR TODAY: Let's join our hearts today; tens of thousands of us joined together! (Over 300,000 share our devotionals daily, so imagine this large chorus rejoicing in praise!) Let's pray for God to make us truly joyful and happy people who live righteously to his glory. We want our joy to be as unshakeable as our God. We want the faith that brings us joy to be infectious and desired by those around us. For those among us in difficulty, we pray for our mighty God to give them reasons to rejoice despite their afflictions. For those who have been bountifully blessed, we pray he opens our eyes to see the glorious riches he has already poured into our lives that can be shared with others.

TOYS FOR TOTS - Wolf River has a TOYS FOR TOTS bin available in our commons area and we are looking for help in filling it. Please consider donating new toys to help us give back to the community. All donations are due the morning of Monday, December 4th. Thank you!!
