

WHAT DID YOU LEARN TO LATE IN LIFE?

- No one wants to date a man with no ambitions
- Changing bad habits becomes more difficult once you get into adulthood
- Habitually complaining about your Life will give you nothing but more stress and fewer friends
- Learning only stops when you decide to no longer challenge yourself
- Your parents will never change! Doesn't matter how many 'sit downs' you have with them, they are stubborn
- No woman owes you anything because you decided to be nice and act like a gentleman
- Never take Life too seriously! No one is going to want to talk to anyone who's always angry at something!
- It is never too late - life could end at any moment, whether you're 20, 30, or 60! Never make yourself believe you are handicapped from achieving a goal
