PREPERATIONS FOR SEVERE WEATHER

Southeast Texas is in store for sever cold weather in the coming days with lows in the middle teens predicted.

David Marshall and the Utility Department have taken proactive steps in preparation for ice on the roadways and particularly on the dams by stockpiling sand The intent is to leave the dam crossing open unless we end up with sever thick icing of the roads over the dams. In that event, we will ere on the side of caution and safety and will close the gates.

I should not need to mention that preparation is key. Wrap your pipes, leave faucets dripping, cover any plants you want to save, and by all means, protect your pets.

Stay warm and dry.
