

As economic and profit growth accelerate, now is the time to stay invested. While the market continues to perform well, a downturn is predicted. BUT before you buy into the Doom and Gloom...

- After an 8-year bull run, a large number of Americans have no exposure to the stock market. This money "on the sideline" could drive the market up.
- Repatriation of corporate cash could bring $2.25 trillion back into companies fueling stock prices, M&A and future buybacks.
- The corporate tax cut from 35% to 15-20% could help boost corporate earnings and spur stock prices.

These catalysts will not ensure the market will go up indefinitely or that we will avoid a correction. Market timing is impossible to get right and volatility is impossible to avoid. Just remember:

1. Keep Perspective - Volatility is inevitable and normally short lived. Investments for the long term tend to avoid volatile returns.
2. Do Not Jump Ship - Markets tend to rebound after bouts of volatility.

Building your foundation for financial success.
