

10 Books of the Bible to Read Again and Again

Here's why I think we need to read the Word of God, over and over. The more you read the Word, the more you learn about God. The more you learn about God, the more you change how you think and the more you change the way you think, the more you live differently.

Our actions are always preceded by our thoughts. And our thoughts are the product of what we allow to influence us.

Here's a list of the ten books of the Bible and why I think you should read them repeatedly.

Genesis—It's the book of Beginnings. The beginning of all creation, the beginnings of God's relationship with man and His disapproval of sin. It's the beginning of humanity and God's desire for how we should live. It is also an account of the first sin and its consequences upon mankind.

John—John introduces us to Jesus in a way the other three Gospels don't. He is introduced to us as God. John uses seven miracles (signs), seven "I AM" statements; and seven sermons to show us the Deity of Jesus.

Romans—Perhaps the most profound theological book in the Bible, Paul shows us the hopelessness of sin; the hope of salvation; and the help of God's Spirit in our life.

Psalms—Every emotion you will ever experience is found in this book of poetry. The "poems" were the worship songs of Israel. They are raw at times; they are full of complaints at times, but they always conclude with a crescendo of God's great and mighty power to overcome evil and to reveal Himself to us.

Ephesians—The words of this great letter reveal to us the love of God for His Church. Each chapter shows us a different picture of what God has for us as His people.

Proverbs—The wisdom of God comes through in each verse of the book. It's a "how to" manual for life and gives us the start on our path to discover wisdom.

Philippians—This book of "joy" will challenge us to seek after God no matter what may come along. Also, we discover insight about how we are to live as servants because Jesus did. It will challenge us about what it means to become influential in our life and it builds confidence in how God will help us in troubling and difficult times.

1 John—This short book, five chapters, will help us to love, to forgive, to live in victory, and remind us of our hope of eternal life through Jesus.

James—Faith in Action is a great way to describe the message of this book, written by Jesus' younger brother, James. It's a practical "how to" message for those who want to go deeper in their walk with God.

Isaiah—Written 700 years before the birth of Christ, Isaiah introduces us to the Messiah in ways that no other prophet did. Isaiah provides for us a great picture of the Messiah, His life, His death, and the victory that is ours as we put our faith in Him.

P.S. We threw Hebrews in at the end because it is a great testimony to Christ and what it means to have faith.
