

SUPREMACY

By iMANi P. Ulate

What is Supremacy? Where does Supremacy come from? How does it affect our lives? How do we overcome Supremacy? These are the vital questions one must arrive at and confront in order to even begin realistically addressing the problems that we have allowed to fester in the world. Like authority, the only way to extinguish the flames of supremacy is to bathe it in the light of Truth.

Supremacy has many faces and functions, from racism to domestic violence, and from pollution to politics supremacy persists. The basic definition of supremacy is - “the state or condition of being superior to all others in authority, power, or status.” - Google. This definition is acceptable and is sufficient as a function of this exercise to further enrich our understanding of supremacy.

What is supremacy? With a creator, the creator is Supreme. With or without a creator Nature is Supreme. The Laws of Nature are Supreme and no known application of man can alter, change or nullify any of these Laws. Supremacy then is when sentient beings attempt to act as the Supreme authority over an environment or another sentient being or beings, and in doing so attempts to subvert Nature’s inherent Authority. Since all sentient beings are equal under the Natural Law, there is no method for one or more sentient beings to have valid, legitimate and binding authority over one or more sentient beings.

Supremacy is Natural only in the sense that it is the polar opposite of Nature. It exists within the scope, scale, and jurisdiction of what we call Nature and Reality. However because Supremacy is Nature's polar opposite, the effects supremacy produces are destructive rather than generative...

Supremacy then is the act of applying arbitrary systems of control over Natural Systems without PROPER respect or regard for the Natural Laws that govern those systems.

Control, domination, exploitation, and violence directly or vicariously; but certainly deliberately over sentient beings by removing a sentient being's Natural Right to consent to the actions that will affect them is Supremacy.

Supremacy on the planet earth manifests in various forms but materializes through a socioeconomic fabric of concrete class. The hierarchy of Supremacy is as follows, in order, Human Supremacy, the false notion that humankind has full and unchallenged authority to do whatever it deems fit without corresponding consequences. Male Supremacy, the realities of a patriarchal society, Sexism, dominance as a virtue etc.. Caucasian post colonial European Supremacy aka "White Supremacy", Capitalism, The Industrial Complexes, "representative Government" and of course Racism. Individual Supremacy, Assault, Theft, Coercion, trespassing, Sexual Assault, Murder, bullying, in other words, the theft of another's personal property by another individual.

There are many expressions and manifestations of Supremacy that are not listed with the primary forms of supremacy because they fit under or into the primary supremacies. Forms of Supremacy such as religious, cultural, economic and environmental Supremacy are branches or symptoms of the primary supremacies. The subsidiary forms of Supremacy are merely the gears of the Primary Supremacies. Religion is a function of Human Supremacy and even Male supremacy.

So called economics and "politics", as it exists now, is a function and faculty of post colonial European Supremacy. Environmental Supremacy is a branch of human supremacy and it breaks down into a multitude of Supremacies such as bullying, domestic violence, government tyranny, and the dramatic exploitation of animals and Natural Resources. Individual Supremacy can be bullying or prejudice, or bullying because of prejudice and also all aspects of domestic and social violence. Many of the vines of Supremacy overlap and intersect, but the root cause of all forms of Supremacy are the false egos of sentient beings, in our case Human beings. Socioeconomic Supremacies are the collective/aggregate manifestations of the "mass ego" derived from the manipulated mentality of the masses.

"Shit rolls down hill", but who is taking the dump? What systems of cause and effect have been set to these ends? The individual ego's of mankind as they collide with one another and with the Natural Law emerge as the ills and woes of society. Supremacy is the father of Authority and violence, Supremacy masquerades as "Authority", "Government", "Culture", "Rules", and as the measuring stick of reality, however, Supremacy is the Anti-Nature and the Anti-Authority.

Where does Supremacy come from? Supremacy is inherent to Nature. As previously stated, Supremacy is the polar opposite of nature, therefore Supremacy has been here since the very beginning of life. The true Nature of "survival of the fittest", the pecking order, paternity etc. are all forms of valid and naturally occurring phenomena. These are but expressions of Nature's Supremacy, which is very natural. These conditions emerge completely without the influence of humans or "sentient" beings.

All illegitimate forms of Supremacy require the intervention of sentient beings to impose and/or enforce their will upon an environment and/or those who have not knowingly and willfully consented to be imposed upon. That energy of arbitrary intervention and imposition is the DNA of Evil. The drivers of that imposition are desire, greed, lust, envy, hate, fear, self-loathing, ignorance, indoctrination, the pursuit of power and more. Every "evil" of reality is a form of Supremacy, every evil deed is an attempt at operating as The Prime Creator without respect and regard for the Natural Law.

There is no such thing as a shadow. A shadow is but the absence of light. Likewise, there is no such thing as “unnatural”. There is only Nature or the absence of the proper respect for it. The frequency that forces and fills that void is Supremacy. Society is an expression of Supremacy, Civilization is an expression of Supremacy and so too are their various properties. Crime is less a Supremacy than a reaction to it. Injustice is less a Supremacy than a symptom of it. These socioeconomic artifacts are but predetermined plotlines, Mother Earth as the stage, Supremacy the theater, and we the cast.

How does supremacy affect our lives? Close your eyes and imagine all of the possible common social norms that can, could or will be imposed on you as early as the next time you wake up. What time are you waking up and why that time specifically? What plans do you have? Do you have errands masquerading as responsibilities? Do you have to renew or register something? Do you have to submit to other humans and/or other systems of man in order to obtain the bare necessities of life? Why are YOU in this position or what methodologies have you managed to employ to save you the trouble? What do you have to do that you would do if there were no forces in place to coerce your attention, your energy, your efforts?

Supremacy is very difficult to spot when it operates in your life AS Nature. When Supremacy operates seemingly in the place of Nature, the lines between real and surreal become blurred. Obtaining nutrition/energy is of Supreme importance to all carbon based life forms, but that instinct is only Supreme to living beings. The instinct itself is still subordinate to the options available in our environment. In other words, whatever controls our sources and methods of consumption will control us. So while our lives seem Natural as we go about living them because we “eat”, SLEEP, shit, fuck and fart. The parts of our lives that we can seemingly consciously control are manufactured and manipulated by other sentient beings and arbitrarily imposed upon us.

Supremacy ruins lives by promising Nature. Supremacy enlists minions because it can execute nothing on its own. Even when the minion is also the source of the act of Supremacy, the minion is also in the position of victim. The agents of Supremacy are always its primary victims. Supremacy uses their morbid disconnection from Nature to power its assault on Nature. Are the men and women of the armed forces of the world Evil? Or are the systems that propagate them evil? Or is it both?

Consider all the ways someone can exercise Supremacy upon you in your life in a day. Consider Supremacies that are barely noticeable, like traffic. There is nothing Natural about traffic. “Traffic” is still bound by physics, so the physical mechanics of how traffic operates and emerges is Natural, however the existence of “Traffic” is a result of Supremacy. Supremacy is never as efficient as Nature, (ex: ants rarely have “traffic”) nor does it offer or provide solutions. Supremacy promises assimilation, arbitration, and annihilation.

Supremacy does not request, it insists. Supremacy does not encourage understanding and awareness, Supremacy simply demands obedience and compliance. You cannot learn from Supremacy, you can only learn from your reaction to it. This is why Supremacy will always be met with Natural resistance from Nature in the form of rebellion. Wherever you find Supremacy, you will also find some form of dissent.

How do we overcome Supremacy? We must become hyper-aware of the presence of Supremacy and its methods of operation. Being able to see Supremacy for what it is, and to be able to identify the Source of the Supremacy, especially when it is coming from ourselves. A perfectly neutral example of this is a parent and a child at a playground. The child seems too small for one of the rides, the parent experiences FEAR based on possibly memory, but definitely an assessment of the possible danger to the child. The child and its abilities are Natural, the act of participating in the technology that is the ride, is natural, the gravity (the very real threat) is natural.

The child's life path may include the child falling and hurting themselves, possibly even badly, but the parent denying the child the opportunity to learn for themselves is Supremacy. Not to say that the parents caution is unfounded, or invalid, and their Natural authority with the child is not legitimate, but the act of intervening in the child's development is an act of Supremacy. A clear sign that this is the case is that the initial cause for the intervention is fear.

Post Thought: The same caution and precautions can be acted upon without fear as the prime motivator; guidance rather than Supremacy.

Supremacy is always rooted in the primal. It emerges as situations and institutions unfold. Necessity is the mother of invention and scarcity is the father of Supremacy. Gas-lighting is the family heirloom, and exploitation is the family business.

Supremacy is any artificial system that is layered over the Natural Systems and enforced as reality. We as sovereign individual beings on an unowned planet have the right to deny our consent to be governed. The arbitrary systems are well aware that they are illegitimate which is why Law in the U.S today is still utterly dictated and dependent on contract and consent. This is because the system is serious even when its citizenry is not, the system knows that Laws are eternal and binding. You cannot break Natural Law, only violate it, and that's why it's called violence.

You CAN however break Man's law, every single one of them. This is a clear indication that you are dealing with nothing more than a mental construct of a diseased mind and way of life. Laws are immutable, inherent and eternally bound to reality. True Law behaves the same in all parts of reality and at all times without stopping for even a moment. Therefore, the mere fact that man's laws are different from one time and place to another is definitive proof of their foundational illegitimacy.

It must be stated that Supremacy is never valid any place or at any time. Therefore in order to persist with the growing intensity it does, it must project that it is present, has jurisdiction, (a claim of authority, not a location) and is in control in all places and at all times. In this way the minds of the emerging masses are almost incapable of seeing that Supremacy is life and life is Supremacy.

What parts of the days of the masses are theirs; free from the influence of complete strangers with obvious agendas and clear-cut psychological impairments? What do the emerging masses do in daily life that cannot be defined and identified as domesticated? How much of our challenges, successes and achievements are nothing more than symptoms of Supremacy? "Graduating",

“getting” a driver’s license, “going” to college”, “getting” married, “moving up” in the workplace and in life.

- Note the language; “Getting...”, “Moving” up. Even that language itself is mind control. It encourages the perpetual search for external and social validation and gratification. These are not cultural rights of passage centered in Nature and Community, they are ways to generate capital and circulate currency, ways to extort money and fund wars.

Supremacy operates in ways as subtle as the concept of a fishing license all the way to concepts far more obvious such as environmental degradation. Supremacy is everything about fast food, its legislation, its traffic and taxes. None of these very material things have any basis in Nature/REALITY which is why Natural nouns (persons, places, things) are the most harmed by Supremacy.

Start nurturing your ability to spot Supremacy when you see it. Start encouraging yourself to call it what it is. Not all Supremacists are white, most aspects of the totality of Supremacy have very little to do specifically with racism, sexism, misogyny, xenophobia, social humiliation such as body shaming etc. It has everything to do with individuals not having a firm grasp of what RIGHTS are, where they come from, or how to exercise them. Nor then can they comprehend what WRONGS are, where they come from or how to avert them.

If the average person had that knowledge in hand the world would operate on a voluntary basis. Force is Natural, Violence is not, it is Supremacy. “Violence” is force upon an environment or force acted upon one or more sentient beings without consent to impose said force. Violence and all of its manifestations are supernatural and Supremacy is the source of mankind’s fears and demons. Violence is the physical/dimensional body of the mental construct of Supremacy. Purge your thoughts, emotions and actions of Supremacy or be damned
