The CEO Program

Standards Alignment – Ohio

The CEO Program

All schools should teach financial literacy and entrepreneurship. A core principle in The CEO Program is how to identify problems and create solutions. At Create Every Opportunity, that is exactly what we did – we identified a problem and created the best solution. Our resources not only teach the students, but also educate the school and teacher how to teach financial literacy, so your students understand everything, and get the most out of our resources.

Curated from The National Standards for Financial Literacy from the Council of Economic Education

Curriculum included from NYU Stern, Illinois Institute of Technology, an University of Virginia's Darden School of Business

Financial Responsibility and Decision Making Investing, Credit and Debit Planning and Money Management Insurance and Risk Management Informed Customer

Ohio Department of Education Financial Literacy Standards

Financial literacy is a requirement for Ohio high school graduation; however, each district determines how best to meet the needs of its students to fulfill this graduation requirement. Some districts add a separate course as a local graduation requirement, while others integrate financial literacy content into a course that already exists. Listed are the 5 areas that are of focus in Ohio (as of 2019).

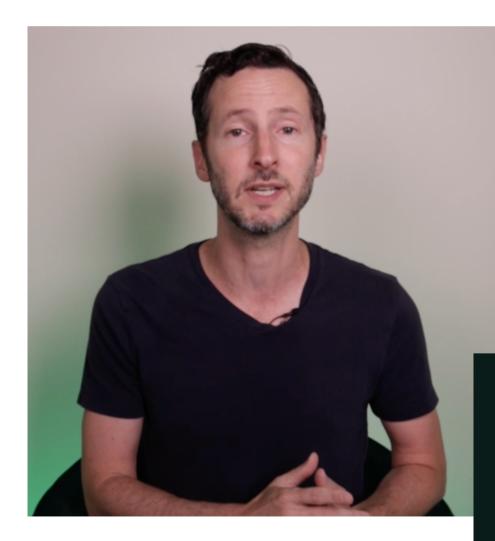

Ohio Financial Literacy Standards vs. The CEO Program

Jeffrey Carr has been on the faculty of the New York University Stern School of Business for 23 years where he teaches marketing, competitive strategy and entrepreneurship in the MBA, EMBA and undergraduate programs. Barry Moltz is an author and speaker in small business and entrepreneurship. He is a member of the Entrepreneurship Hall of Fame, and he taught entrepreneurship as an adjunct professor at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Having top entrepreneurs teach each subject lends valuable real-world experience and credibility to The CEO Program, along with maximum engagement for students.

"The nurturing of young minds is of paramount importance, especially when it comes to giving them practical life skills. Create Every Opportunity has done this beautifully ..." - Yahoo Finance

"The availability of resources and opportunities like these are often life-saving for many. The power to own and grow a business, as well as being financially literate, could not only possibly change one's life, but also that person's community, and even the world. This is the kind of change C.E.O. hopes to spark." - NBC News

Jason Feifer is the editor in chief of Entrepreneur magazine and host of two popular podcasts: Build for Tomorrow and Problem Solvers.

"Driven to serve as a pillar for success, Create Every Opportunity or CEO emerges as a go-to authority in financial literacy and wealth management" - NY Weekly

Get in Touch

Movement

Ashley@createeveryopportunity.org

Sarf@createeveryopportunity.org www.createeveryopportunity.org