The importance of our future is tremendous as we all try to make a difference. The more we learn, the more we achieve. At school, we gain knowledge. We all know the first word revealed to the Prophet: Iqra (read). Schools are extremely important. We spend most of our lives in school and must decide to attend Islamic or public school

I chose an Islamic school because of its values, like manners and Islamic teachings. It teaches us the Prophet's Seerah, his life. We learn Quran, placing us in an Islamic environment where we can remember and worship Allah. Our teachers work beyond to help us memorize it, not by force, but because we want to. They teach us the Seerah in depth and correctly, when many Muslims don't have the opportunity to do so.

My school teaches us Islamic manners, with lessons about the Prophet's actions, his companions, and other great scholars. Our words are polite and respectful, because our teachers teach us Islamic virtues.

Another thing Islamic schools provide us is safety and cleanliness. In our Islamic environment, we can worship and pray without being judged, with the right facilities to do so. This helps shape our identity as Muslims and as people, in order to make future achievements in society.

In the end, Islamic schools are essential. Not only do they serve as a place to learn Islamic virtues, they also allow us to be free and make a change in future society.
