

EDITOR'S MESSAGE:

Dear WITVA Members:

While browsing through the May 2021 issue of SOUTHWEST ART, I was drawn to "The Next Generation" article about ten artists. They were asked to describe themselves in one word, which can be a challenging task for anyone since each of us is multi-dimensional. Some of the words selected were "busy", "patient", "dedicated", "quiet", "seeker", "driven".

The one artist that resonated most with me was Mark Magiori. His word was "forward". He continued by saying that "I'm a person in motion, always trying to move forward to be better and do better." These are relatable words to all of us as we move forward as individuals and as an organization. I am sure many of our members have had large chunks of time during isolation to self-reflect and maybe even forge a new path for our artwork.

WITVA is on the move to better and exciting times. We are moving to in-person exhibitions and hopefully, in-person meetings. I hope to be able to gather and share our experiences in the near future.
