

THE WINDOW

She sits by the window
 watching the world pass by
 - carefree -
Children on skateboards
 playing daredevil on wooden ramps;
Teenagers in new - old - cars
 zipping along the highway with T-tops down;
Young lovers strolling hand-in-hand
 glancing toward each other nervously; Families sitting together on blankets
 picnicing in the park;
Older couples up at dawn
 jogging together in the early morning sun;
Sadness swells deep in her soul wishing for something that never was;
 - carefree -
She sits by the window
 watching the world pass by.

Marie Lowe

6/5/88