SUPPORT FOR GRANPARENTS RAISING GRANDCHILDREN

WE ARE BUILDING A LEGACY THAT STRENGTHENS GENERATIONAL CONNECTION & TRANSFORMS LIVES!

You're not alone; there are many grandparents, arriving at second generational parenting again because their adult children are having trouble in their lives. In my case, my daughter a single mom was in a horrific automobile accident that incapacitated her for months. But I knew it was my place to fill in the gap while my grandchild experienced the sudden trauma of maternal separation. I had come face to face with legal, school, and financial systems. Looking back, I received a crash course in trying to learn how to navigate parenting transformation again. Yes, as grandparents we had to step up and step in. I wonder to myself how many other grandparents are going through the same issue. In not finding any grandparents with custody of their grandchildren, I decided to create a program called GEMs University which is a program design for Grandparents/Kinship Caregivers and Grandchildren. I needed to network with like-minded grandparents that are in the same situation.

The GEMs University Program works in conjunction with Transformation Now Inc (TFN) 501c3. It has been established to provide support for 2nd generational parents raising youth in the Columbus Ohio area. Our program will help strengthen the relationships of grandparents and their grandchildren by offering activities and methods to close communication barriers.
