

Defensible Space Evaluations Coming to the Cascade Canyon Neighborhood of Fairfax

Uniformed Inspectors will conduct defensible space and home hardening evaluations on residential properties in the Cascade Canyon neighborhood of Fairfax starting the week of Aug 2nd. (see attached map). This is being conducted by the Marin County Fire Department in partnership with neighboring fire agencies and the Marin Wildfire Prevention Authority (MWP).

A comprehensive report for your property will be available to you online 48 hours after your property's evaluation. The report will provide steps to reduce your property's vulnerability and improve your safety from wildfires. Some actions outlined in this report are required by law.

We encourage residents to accompany the inspectors for a socially distanced tour of their property to find areas that could be improved for defensible space and home-hardening. If nobody is home, that's OK! Inspectors will evaluate the property from the road/driveway and leave instructions to retrieve your online report.
