

Ronny Kurland, Production Designer

Ronny is a curious filmmaker who strives to observe, understand, and boldly try anything that is unimaginable. She specializes in using her artistic background to build her story and to articulate her thoughts. As a Production Designer, she takes great length to study and research screenplays, create illustrative mood boards, and push every project forward. Any projects that she encounters is always a challenge and a learning outcome for Ronny. She strives to go above and beyond throughout each phase of production.
