Abundance Pot Ceremony

This is a very popular process for creating more abundance in your life. Abundance means having more than enough, enough to be generous. It is about quality of life and the freedom to live the way you want. This ceremony is about making choices and putting them into action by creating an abundance pot.

The pot symbolises everything you wish for and acts like a magnet, drawing abundance towards you. This is part practical and part spiritual. The practical part is making choices and creating a pot that overflows with everything you need and want in your life. The spiritual aspect is the prayers and energy used in making the pot. This process is effective and fun. Daniel's ceremony is based upon Tibetan, Native American and Celtic traditions.

You can make an abundance pot for yourself or for friends and loved ones. A pot made for yourself will be more powerful than one you make for someone else.

You will be instructed on how to prepare during the introduction.
