LOVE MAKES THE WORLD GO ROUND/

It's February, Folks -- The month of love.

Sorta sad that we have to designate a month for Love, huh?
Especially as they say, "Love makes the world go round".

I believe it really does. Just as hate screws up everything!

But I can't make the whole world one way or the other!!!

No, that's true, but I CAN make my own world better.

HOW?

WELL, maybe that's why we need a whole month to give it a try. (Now we are not talking about the romantic kind of love, are we?)
Wonderful as that kind of love is- We are really thinking here about "Love of our fellow man."

Maybe- if we do use this month of February to concentrate our thoughts and actions on that kind of love we can make a difference not just in our personal lives, but also in the community! Maybe if each of us would just concentrate on trying to understand one another we might find that there is actually a bit of love there amidst the understanding. And if we can do it within our family and friends we might get into the habit of it to broaden that kind of effort out into the community, too--into our work place, organizations, churches, etc. What if all those folks we make such an effort with recognize that and try to do it themselves? (Instead of everyone trying to be better than everyone else, everyone would be trying to understand each other--Yes, maybe even loving each other! and then-----LOVE DOES MAKE THE WORLD GO ROUND!
