Follow the Detours In Your Life

"The path may seem straight at the start, then twist and turn and fall apart."

Here we are—midweek at CAMP. Can you believe it? By now, you've probably gotten into a rhythm. You've met people, tried new things, sang A LOT!—or maybe you've hit a few bumps along the way. That's all part of CAMP.

But, it's not just about camp—it's about life. Sometimes, life feels like it should go in a straight line. We make plans. We imagine how things should go. But then... a curve. A roadblock. A delay. A detour.

What if God uses those "roadblocks" to teach you something? To bring someone into your life. To wake you up to something you've been missing. To show you a version of yourself you haven't seen before.

It's okay if things feel a little off. It's okay if you're still figuring things out. Roadblocks don't mean you're lost. They mean you're about to grow.

We look for God in the destinations, but Jesus meets us in our detours. They are where we learn and grow. They are where God slows us down, redirects us, and says: "Trust me—I'm taking you somewhere."

Reflect on your week so far. Are you making the most of the twist and turns? Do you see how you're growing? Do you see God working through you and in others?

"Let the morning bring me word of your unfailing love, for I have put my trust in you. Show me the way I should go, for to you I entrust my life."— Psalm 143:8

"When life is unbearable, and you are swearable, and you're not with it—and HOW? Help is available, not even failable, and it is with you right now!"
