

Nurture Nature

Monday Memo

March 31, 2025

Hello Everyone,

I hope everyone has been enjoying their first full week of spring! The weather has been truly delightful, and the familiar signs of the season are emerging everywhere.

This past week, I attended the Landscape Design School, where I participated in the morning sessions featuring excellent speakers. The course was well-organized, and I found it to be an incredibly rewarding learning experience. Thanks to Zoom, attending was easy, and participants joined from several states. I highly encourage all members to consider future GCFM school offerings—they are both informative and affordably priced.

April is packed with activities! Be sure to take note of the exciting opportunities available and the important deadlines approaching. I know many of you are posting your plant sale flyers on our website—please send them directly to Karen at GCFMwebmaster@gmail.com. Clubs are buzzing with events, and I truly appreciate the invitations. This month, I look forward to visiting many of our clubs for various celebrations and meetings. Thank you for including me in your activities—it means a lot!

Additionally, the spring issue of The Mayflower has been posted, along with the Mayflower Speaker Program Supplement. You can find the links below. It's wonderful to read about all the amazing projects and initiatives happening in our clubs. The photos are filled with smiling faces, and it's inspiring to see the impact of our collective efforts.
