TAKING THE 1ST STEP

... I have tried to keep TCC as pure as possible, even at the expense of my earning a living. It is important that we prevent deviations in the Teaching and the Practicing. You all know how Churches and Spiritual Organizations often degenerate into self-seeking political centers, with the benefits of the Practice involved almost completely forgotten. We must never forget that, as we receive rewards ourselves, it is our Way to serve. Each time one of you makes a Presentation, you are, in effect, promoting TCC as well as yourself. When we are grateful for what we receive, we offer it to others. This natural to those who feel the great CHI force flowing thru them. Not only is this CHI the PRANA (Energy), it is the PRAJNA (Wisdom) as well. I know that I frequently have had precognitive experiences that have benefited me greatly, and others feel the growth of intuition in other ways. Make no mistake: T'ai Chi Chih practice will change you. It is a Sadhana

Bowing in Gratitude

My Dear T'ai Chi Chih Community,

To bow with palms together at the end of a T'ai Chi Chih practice is a very personal act for me. It is a concrete way, a physical act I can do to express outwardly an inner feeling. It is a way to say "thank you". It is a way to reconfirm my intentions. It is a way to acknowledge how I feel, which is often grateful. It is recognition of a contented, peaceful fullness that is actually an emptiness of emotions.

That is what I share with my students if I choose to bow in class. I explain that bowing is not part of T'ai Chi Chih. Justin did not teach bowing as part of the T'ai Chi Chih form. At the end of a practice I might ask students to notice how they feel. Taking time to observe the impact the practice has had on our emotions and state of mind is valuable. And being able to acknowledge this only makes it more apparent. Taking a moment with eyes closed or not, a moment of inward reflection, and joining me in a bow or not, whatever they choose, it is all O.K. I do not bow to others after the practice or say any words of greetings such as Namaste. A simple bow and silence, just for a moment, is enough. I do not always bow. I let the voice from within direct me. The bow is very personal and meaningful for me.

Justin was fond of telling teachers to "never do T'ai Chi Chih carelessly". To me that means not only physically doing the movements correctly but more so remaining present in the moment with awareness, NOT going on automatic. I feel the same about bowing. Each time I bow it is not the act of bowing I am doing but an expression of an inward awareness. So whether I stand in silence for a moment, or raise my arms and face upward, or spin in a circle, or bow, it matters not.

The bow is not a perfunctory act done as a closure to T'ai Chi Chih Cosmic Consciousness

Chi Reflections

Awareness

Once you have had a glimpse of awareness or Presence, you know it firsthand. It is no longer just a concept in your mind.

~Eckhart Tolle

Relating

Worthwhile relationships must evolve by continually undergoing renewal with the passage of time. They are vital life gifts to be nurtured and cultivated, to remain mutually enriching.

~Steven Ridley,
"REFLECTIONS In Stillness - Contemplative Themes

Pose is the completion of T'ai Chi Chih. Does T'ai Chi Chih need something else to make it complete? Consider, the next time you choose to bow after T'ai Chi Chih practice, what it means to you, and bow with intent and awareness. Let it be a meaningful expression of the gift you have just received.

Dear T'ai Chi Chih Community,

In mid-May of 2014 I will be putting on the 2nd Annual T'ai Chi Chih Retreat and Banquet at Folsom State Prison. You may have seen the article I wrote last year about the first one, which appeared in the Vital Force. Sister Antonia was there and it was a beautiful experience for all. This year, I have twice as many men in my class (23), and as I am paying for this out-of-pocket, I am asking if anyone who is interested in doing so, could make a small contribution to the event. It is a great way for the men to feel supported by the greater Community, and would help me out a lot.

Mission Statement

The International T'ai Chi Chih Community of students and accredited teachers is dedicated to the personal practice of T'ai Chi Chih and to sharing with the world this form of moving meditation and its benefits affecting body, mind, and spirit.

difference to this class. At the 2013 Teacher's Conference Kim Grant gave me quite a few of Justin's small booklets and issues of "Blooming the Flower," and Michael O'Connor has shipped/donated 14 used textbooks and 5 of Justin's books on meditation - all greatly appreciated. Tara Stiles and Judy Tretheway have also donated books, old Vital Force Issues, and music. Any used textbooks are welcome, as it is my goal that each man in the class have his own textbook.

Thank you for your support. It is very much appreciated. If I receive any money in excess of the cost of the banquet, I will use it to purchase more textbooks for the class.
