Standard 01 - 1.2.4 Harassment in the Workplace
Assessor Compliance Determination	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Yes	<input type="checkbox"/>	No	<input type="checkbox"/>	Not Applicable
Comments: Proofs are good. For different proof in the future, consider using Lexipol's policy sign-off to show employees have reviewed the policy. It demonstrates they know where to find the policy and goes into more depth as to how to report harassment within your agency. For Watertown, we make it a requirement that employees review the policy, and then must sign that they haven't been subjected to harassment during the review period, haven't witnessed harassment by another employee, etc.

Standard 02-1.2.5 Privacy in Locker Rooms
Assessor Compliance Determination	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Yes	<input type="checkbox"/>	No	<input type="checkbox"/>	Not Applicable
Comments: Meets standards. One of their signs is more generic – essentially just no recording. The other proof showed a picture of a sign with more verbiage from state statute. I would make sure that all signs are consistent throughout the building. Without being on-site it's difficult to tell the positioning of these signs.

Standard 05-1.7.7 Strip Searches
Assessor Compliance Determination	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Yes	<input type="checkbox"/>	No	<input type="checkbox"/>	Not Applicable

Comments: Nice proofs. I like how Lexipol documents training for employees. Instead of for example having a supervisor merely discuss how to conduct a strip search, officers are required through Lexipol to read a scenario and then take a quiz to make sure they are retaining the information and not merely signing off on policy.

Standard 18 5.1.6 Deadly Force
Assessor Compliance Determination		X	Yes		No		Not Applicable
Comments: Great proofs. Again, great documentation of onboarding and continual training throughout the agency. Low frequency, high risk events. Time spent continually training and documenting will pay in the long run should a OIS occur.
Repairs Required:		Yes	X	No	Repairs Approved by Assessor:		Yes		No

Standard 19- 5.1.7 Warning of Use of Deadly Force
Assessor Compliance Determination		X	Yes		No		Not Applicable
Comments: Good proof, but could be better. Proof involved an officer entering a house to find a female sleeping. Female woke up and observed the officer in uniform and complied with the officers commands. Perhaps use a proof a high-risk vehicle contact, where an officer used verbiage similar to “Altoona PD - follow our commands or force may be used” or something similar.

Standard 34-6.3.8 Officer Involved Critical Incidents
Assessor Compliance Determination		X	Yes		No		Not Applicable
Comments: Officer Involved Critical Incident – Good policy and Critical Incident Employee and Family Handbook. I appreciate how they have the handbook with a checklist of what to do. Having been involved as a supervisor in three OIS incidents over the past few years, it's great to have these as references as no matter how many officers you have working there is a lot to keep track of. Having a document where you researched and wrote it in a non-stress environment will help tremendously in the future.

Standard 40 6.6.2 Juvenile Offenders
Assessor Compliance Determination		X	Yes		No		Not Applicable
Comments: Good policy and proofs. I would like to have seen for 6.6.3.3 notifying parents that you intend to interview the child, providing the child with their rights, recording the interaction, etc. The proof deals with searching a juveniles phone, but I think the intent of WILEAG is to show compliance while interviewing. I was able to find this as compliant using other proofs.

Comments from AC Olsen:

Let me know if you want me to expand on anything else. I didn't take the best notes with corrections. Anything that was changed was quick and for the most part clerical as all of the documents weren't scanned in and entered, but it was only for a couple of the proofs.

Respectfully submitted,
