

About our CEO, writer and publisher:

Paul V. Montesino holds a Ph.D. in education from Nova Southeastern University, FL. with a concentration in computer technology; a Master of Business Administration (MBA) in accounting and entrepreneurship from Babson College, Wellesley, MA, and two bachelor's degrees in science from Northeastern University, Boston, one in Accounting and the other in Management Information Systems, both Cum Laude (Honor). He has done additional work in Psychoanalysis and completed the One Year Program in Psychoanalysis at the Boston Graduate School of Psychanalysis, Brookline, MA. Since 1996, he has been writing and publishing articles in the press and the Internet.

His column appears in his two bilingual websites, <http://www.LatinoWorldOnline.com> and <http://www.MundoLatinoOnline.com> where he is the Executive Director and editor. He is also an invited columnist in the weekly bilingual newspaper Rumbo and <http://www.Rumbonews.com> Web site in Lawrence, Ma.

His books are offered to the general public via Montessin Enterprises LLC's own publishing Web site <http://www.Pablitocreations.com> where people interested in his publications may access Amazon.com directly to buy them.

Beginning in 1996, after retiring from a productive career in banking for thirty-four years with the title of first Vice President at United States Trust Company, Boston, he began to instruct as a permanent member of the faculty with the title of Senior Lecturer, now retired, at Bentley University, Waltham, MA.

For sixteen years he taught and coordinated technology courses of computer science in the departments of administration of procedures and information systems as well as courses of regulations and costs in the accounting department. His teaching included technology systems for ongoing organizations and strategic technology systems for new organizations.

Since 2012, after retiring from full-time employment, Dr. Montesino has written and published thirty-three eBooks, paperbacks or audiobooks in English, Spanish or bilingual, at Amazon.com and has presented his work at various venues. Some of his books are in the Watertown, Waltham, and other university libraries.

He lives with his wife Noemi in Watertown, MA.
