Story:

For several years Southwest Virginia and Southern West Virginia has had massive hardships thanksto government. When the Government shut down all fossil fuel power plants one winter without warning 1000s went without power, 100s died, and no one seemed to care. Those that remained did spoke up, but that voice fell on deaf ears. Then when democracy failed, and the cities started having issue then came help ... but not for Appalachia not for those that had the most hardship.

The people fought back raiding supplies and cities with the help of SF. The Government had enough and has sent in the National Guard to help Law Enforcement to calm and protect the people but not all the people want to be calmed ....

The Stageis set for a small town in Virginia with a river that runs thru it....
