

Bob Carline (2019)

Jan 13, 2021: Creating Wood Sculptures

Bob Carline was born and raised in Clifton, NJ. He earned a BS in biology from Rutgers University, an MS in fisheries science from Oregon State University, and a PhD in zoology from the University of Wisconsin, Madison. He worked as research biologist for the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources for 10 years and then joined the US Fish and Wildlife Service fishery research unit at the Ohio State University. He moved to Penn State in 1984 and took over as Leader, of the PA Cooperative Fish and Wildlife Research Unit. Much of his research was directed at Spring Creek. He provided an overview of his findings in the 2011 publication “The Fishery of Spring Creek – A Watershed Under Siege”. He retired in 2007. Bob and wife Marge have 3 children and 6 grandchildren. They enjoy traveling and most outdoor activities. Bob is a devoted trout angler and when the weather is not pleasant, he retreats to his workshop and creates wood sculptures.

Revised 12/18/2024