Percy Wiseman This floriferous shrub produces clusters of elegant trumpet-shaped flowers with yellow throats and branches streaked pink at the ends. The plant's blooms will have turned creamy white in late spring. Hardy to -10, 4-5ft Tall & Wide

*Prince Camille de Rohan Early Midseason flowers are funnel-shaped, 2 $\frac{3}{8}$ " across, pale rose pink, with a broad crimson ray on dorsal lobes. Dome-shaped truss holds up to 20 flowers. Hardy to -15, 5ft in 10 years.

Polarnacht Tight, low and spreading, this will mature twice as wide as tall. Leathery, dark green leaves populate its branches and serve as the backdrop for striking, bulbous, branch ending buds that turn nearly black as they expand in mid to late May. When the buds open fully, frilly deep, dark purple flowers form huge trusses that cover the plant with this rare, very showy color. Hardy to -10 degrees, 2-3ft Tall x 5-6ft Wide.

*Rocket This belongs to the group of Large-Flowered Evergreen Hybrid Rhododendrons. These are the drama queens of Spring and early Summer, producing stunning displays of showy flowers in big trusses against a backdrop of bold evergreen foliage. Beautiful, frilly, deep-pink flowers create a stunning contrast against the dark green leaves. Hardy to -20 degrees, 4-6ft T&W
