Where in the World...

Every winter in Sapporo, Japan, there is a giant snow festival that is visited by many people from Japan and around the world. Sapporo is turned into a winter dream world with the International Snow Sculpture Contest that has taken place since 1974. In 1983, the third site at Susukino was opened, adding a new addition to the festival with the ice sculptures, illuminated by the neon street lights. In 1984, the duration of the festival was extended from 5 days to 7 full days. Even visitors from America and Canada were traveling halfway around the world to visit this extravagant attraction, which draws in nearly 2 million people every year.

What's Going on Here...

December 8th: "Christmas Tree Lighting in Port Washington" will be held at Blumenfeld Family Park at 6PM. This will feature a live nativity scene and music from the St. Peter's School Chorus. Santa Clause will also be in attendance to visit the beautiful Christmas tree.

December 15th: "Holiday Tales at the Hearth" at the Hempstead House in Sands Point, 127 Middle Neck Road. An event to celebrate holiday traditions from around the world. The event begins 12-3pm, admission $10 for members, $20 for non-members.

December 23: "Social Media-Grow Your Small Business" workshop at the Port Washington Public Library. This free workshop begins at 7PM. Attendees will learn how to get the most "bang for their buck!" for their business using social media.

How's it Possible...

Did you know that a recent invention called "Solar Roadways" could change the way we drive? Solar Roadways are specially engineered solar panels that can be walked and driven upon. The solar wafers are protected under thick layers of shatter proof gorilla glass and can generate electricity from any surface. The solar panels can be used to pave roads, driveways, sidewalks or any surface meant for walking. The goal is to charge electric vehicles with clean energy from the sun, first with solar parking lots and hopefully highway infrastructure while driving. One day, solar panels will be available for highways, but first will come non-critical applications such as driveways and parking lots. Solar roadways will also help with the prevention of greenhouse gases.

When Did That Happen...

In 1968 astronauts Frank Borman, Jim Lovell and William Anders spent the night before Christmas orbiting the moon. The three astronauts became the first men to leave Earth's gravitational pull, the first to orbit the moon, and the first to view all of Earth from space and the first to see the dark side of the moon. Apollo 8 is perhaps best remembered today for the broadcast the three astronauts made when they entered the moon's orbit on Christmas Eve. As viewers were shown pictures of the moon and Earth from lunar orbit. The broadcast ended with the famous line "Merry Christmas, and God bless all of you, all of you on the good Earth". This became one of the most watched television events in history.

That's Incredible!

We all know some Ice Age creatures like the woolly mammoths and saber-tooth cats, but the biggest bear that lived 10,000 years ago was "The Giant Short-Faced Bear". This animal was discovered in 1854 by paleontologist, Joseph Leidy. The fossil of the bear was found in a tar pit in California, but many of its fossils are found everywhere throughout North America. The ancestor of the short-faced bear is the grizzly bear, unlike it's cousin who is omnivorous, this creature is a carnivore. It is 6 feet tall, however when standing it is measured at 11 feet tall. This mammal is one of the greatest prehistoric bears ever discovered.

That's Trendy!

The cold front is near when we find ourselves nestled at home wrapped in a blanket, enjoying the smell of wintry candles, and a preheated oven ready to bake yummy snacks and desserts. During the winter season cookies are one of the most popular goodies to make. The trendiest holiday cookies to bake are chocolate chip cookies, sugar cookies, ginger cookies, and Linzer tarts. This year's favorites are peanut butter blossoms and fig cookies. No matter what your favorite cookies are any of these delicious cookies will be great to enjoy this holiday season.
