The Goolwa Camera Club recently welcomed three new members at its most recent meeting, with two people also bringing along work for feedback as part of the new club 'show and tell' activity.

One was delighted with the feedback received when it was suggested her work was good enough to be entered into competitions.

The standard of entries throughout categories at the meeting's competitions was high, giving judge Brad Hodge a difficult task to determine a winner in each section.

The club meets on the second Wednesday of each month at 11am in the Goolwa Scout Hall, Daniel St Goolwa North.

It is also open from 12pm - 1pm during the lunch break, when new and existing members can bring their prints and/or digital images (max 3) in for friendly discussion.

The club operates all day and those intending to stay are advised to bring their own lunch. Tea and coffee are always available.
