

THE ADVENTURES OF AYANDA
AND FRIENDS

MILLION WORD GAP PROJECT

This book will guide your child through the exciting world of prepositions, helping them understand the concepts of around, over, under, and through in a fun and interactive way. As you read together, encourage your child to point to or act out the actions in the story. This will not only reinforce the meanings of these key prepositions but also boost their vocabulary and spatial awareness. Enjoy exploring the language of movement with your little one!

The Hope-Hear Million word gap project by Hope-Hear NPC, 2024 / 064699 / 08
is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution -
Non-Commercial 3.0 Unported License

www.hope-hear.org
#HOPE-learn

Illustrations by

Adobe Firefly

Creative Consultant

Raiël le Roux

The car is not driving through the bridge.
It is not driving under the bridge...

The car is driving over the bridge.

Should Ayanda and Suzi go under the doorway?

NO!

Should they go over the doorway?

NO!

They go through the doorway!

How does trump get to the house?

Should he go over the grass?

NO!

Should he go under the grass?

NO!

He goes through the grass.

How does the boat get to the lighthouse?

Does it go over the bridge?
NO!

Does it go through the bridge?
NO!

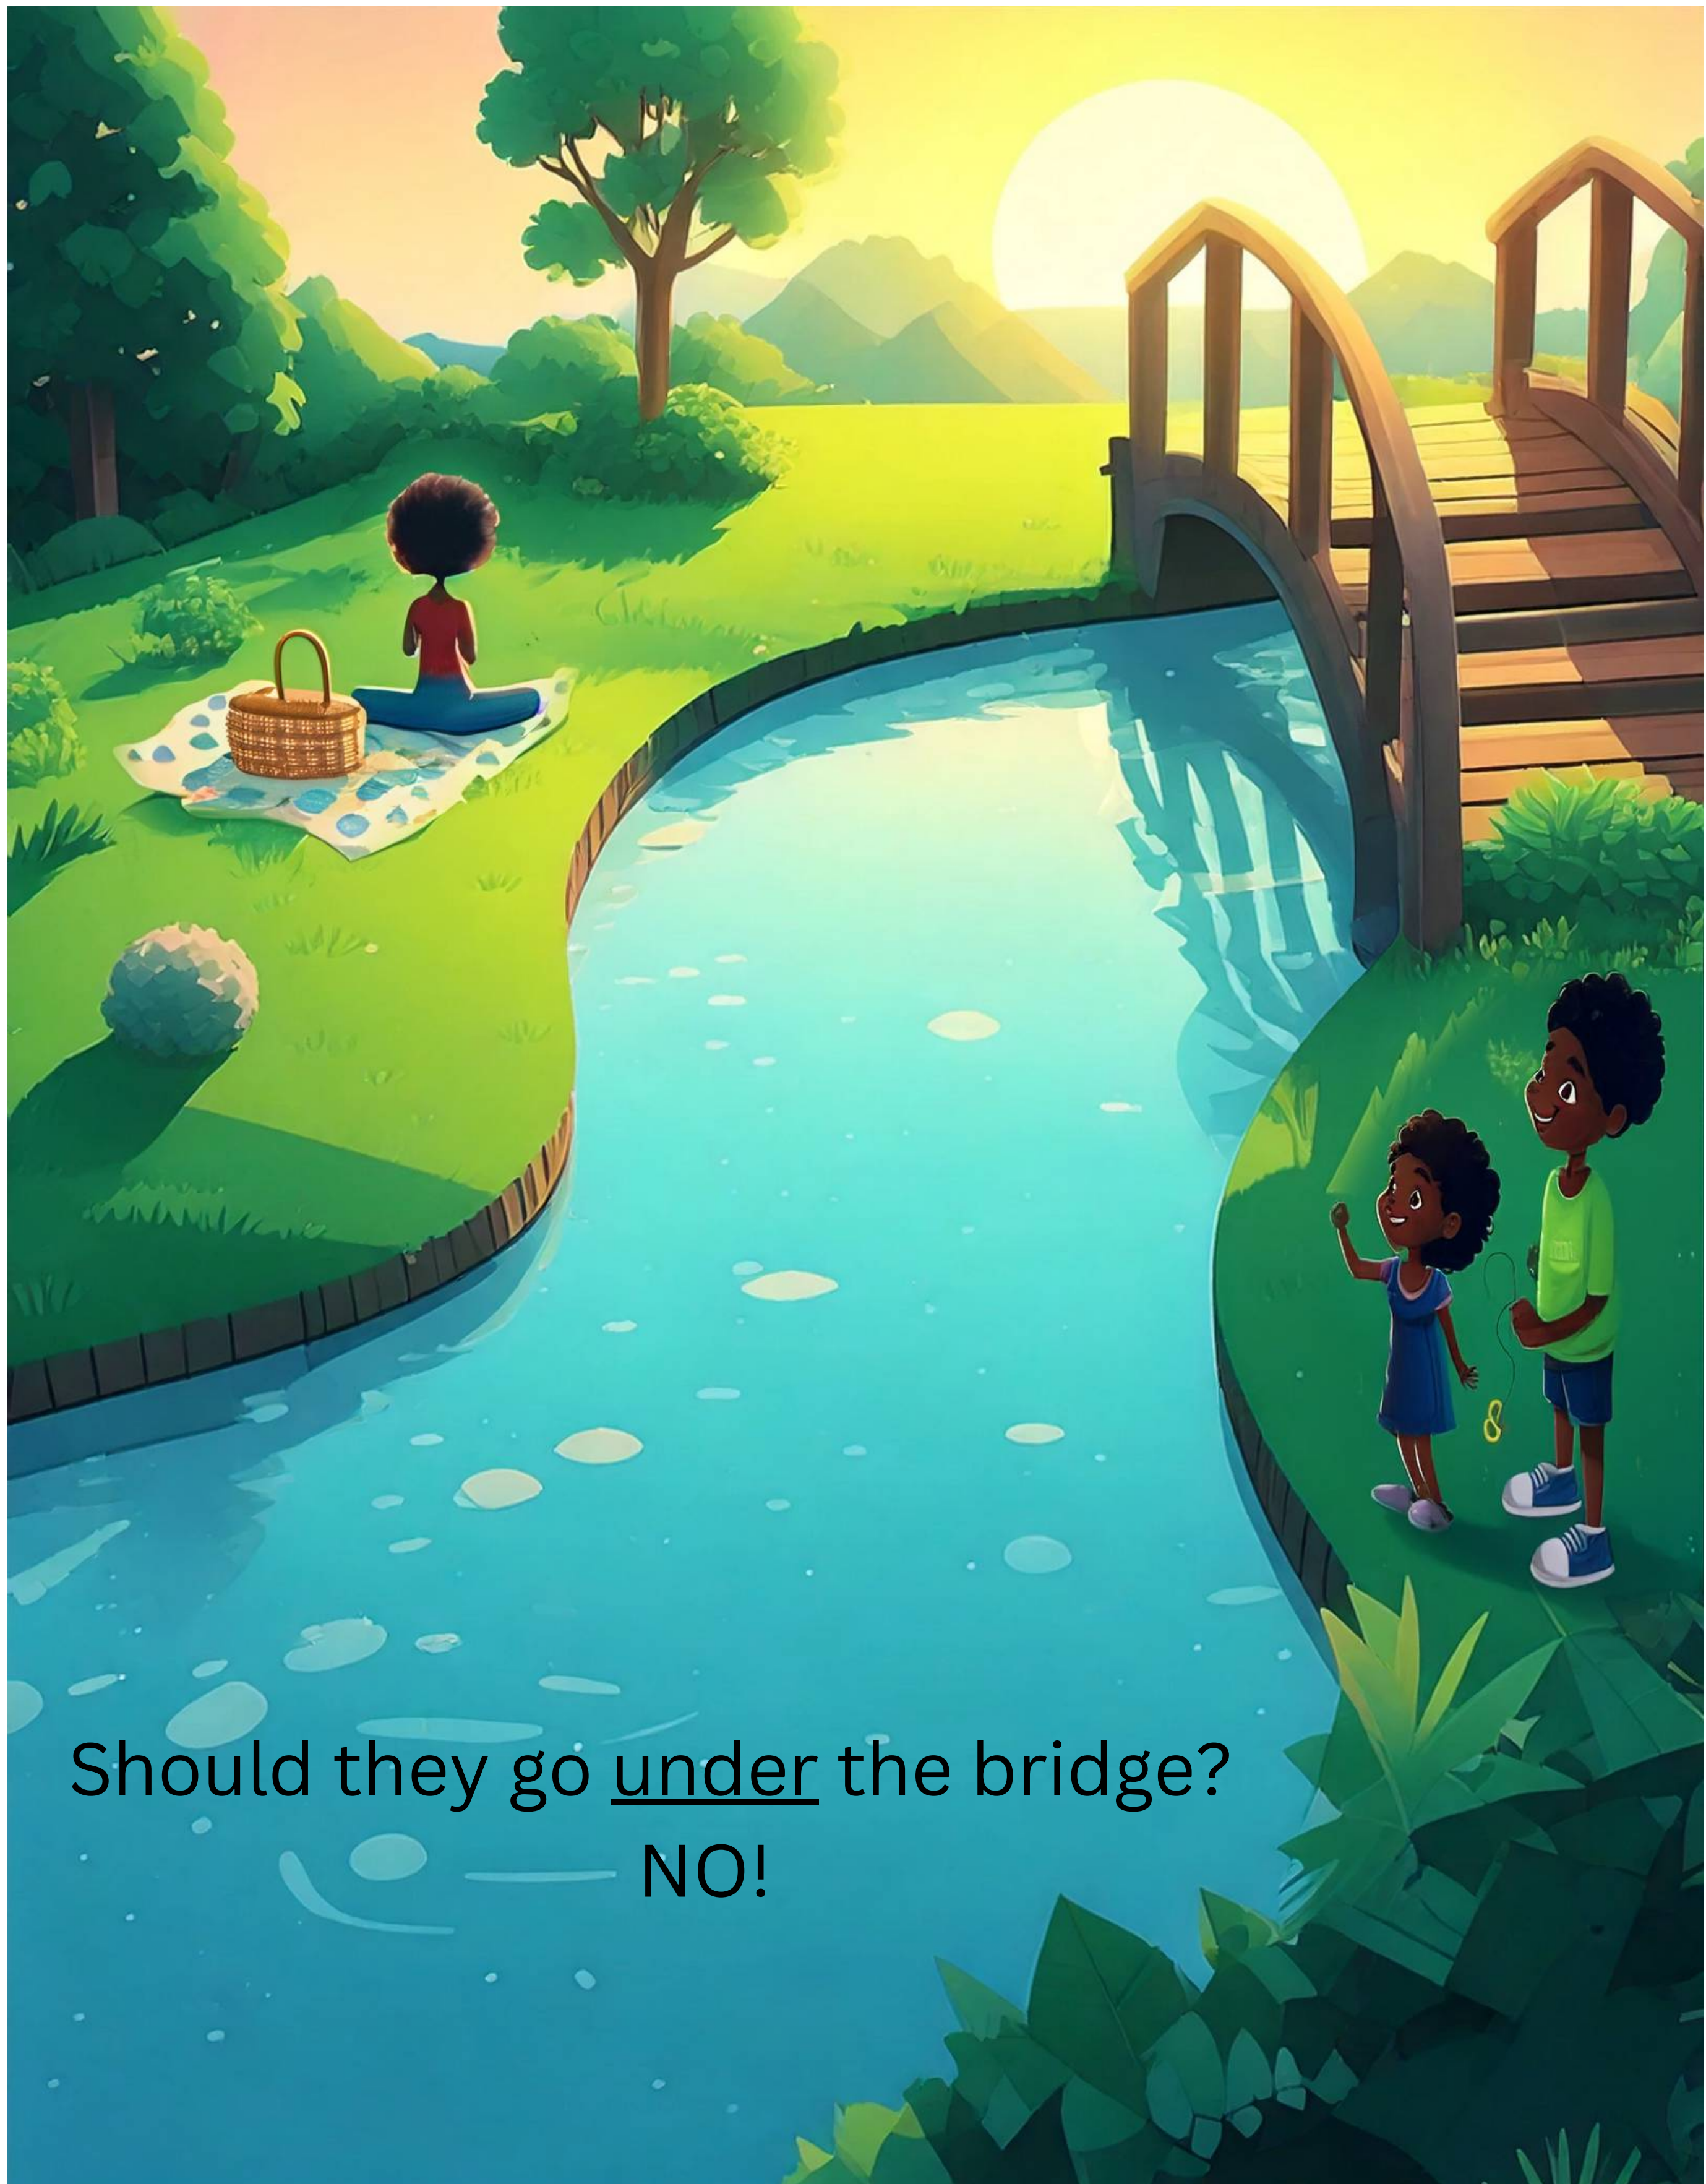

It goes under the bridge.

How should the children get to their mommy?

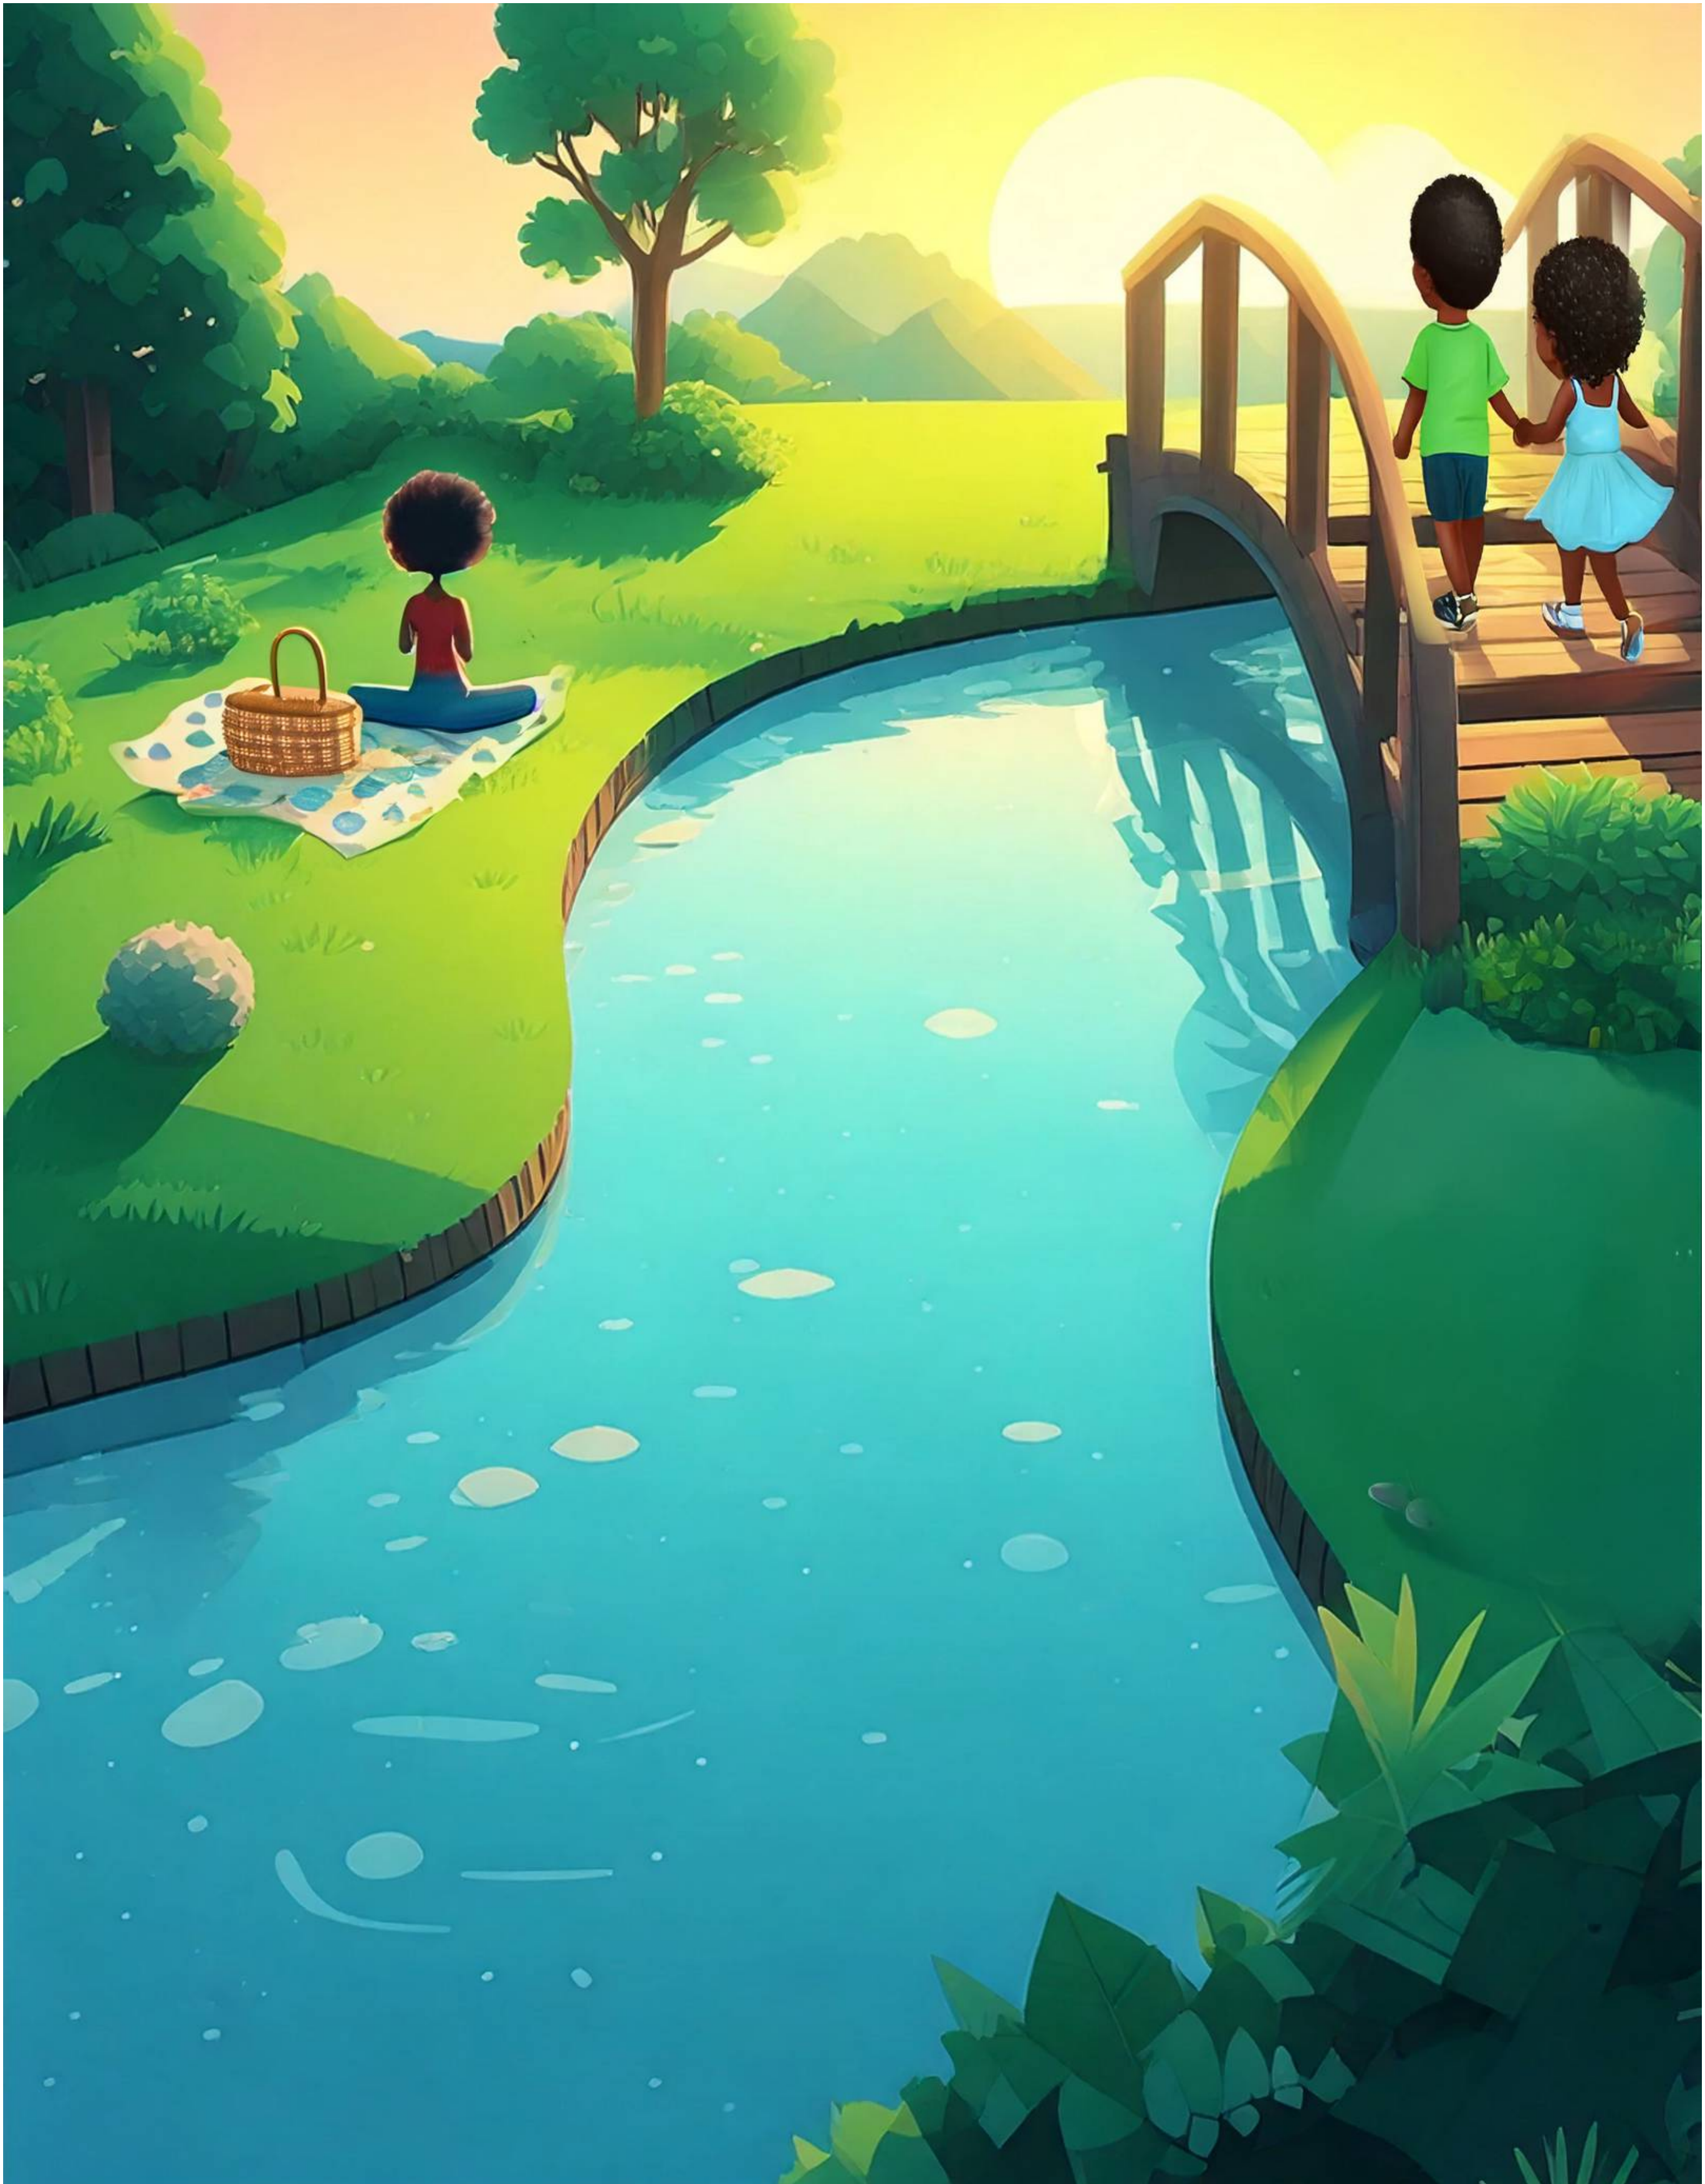

Should they go under the bridge?
NO!

Should they go through the bridge?
NO!

They go over the bridge.

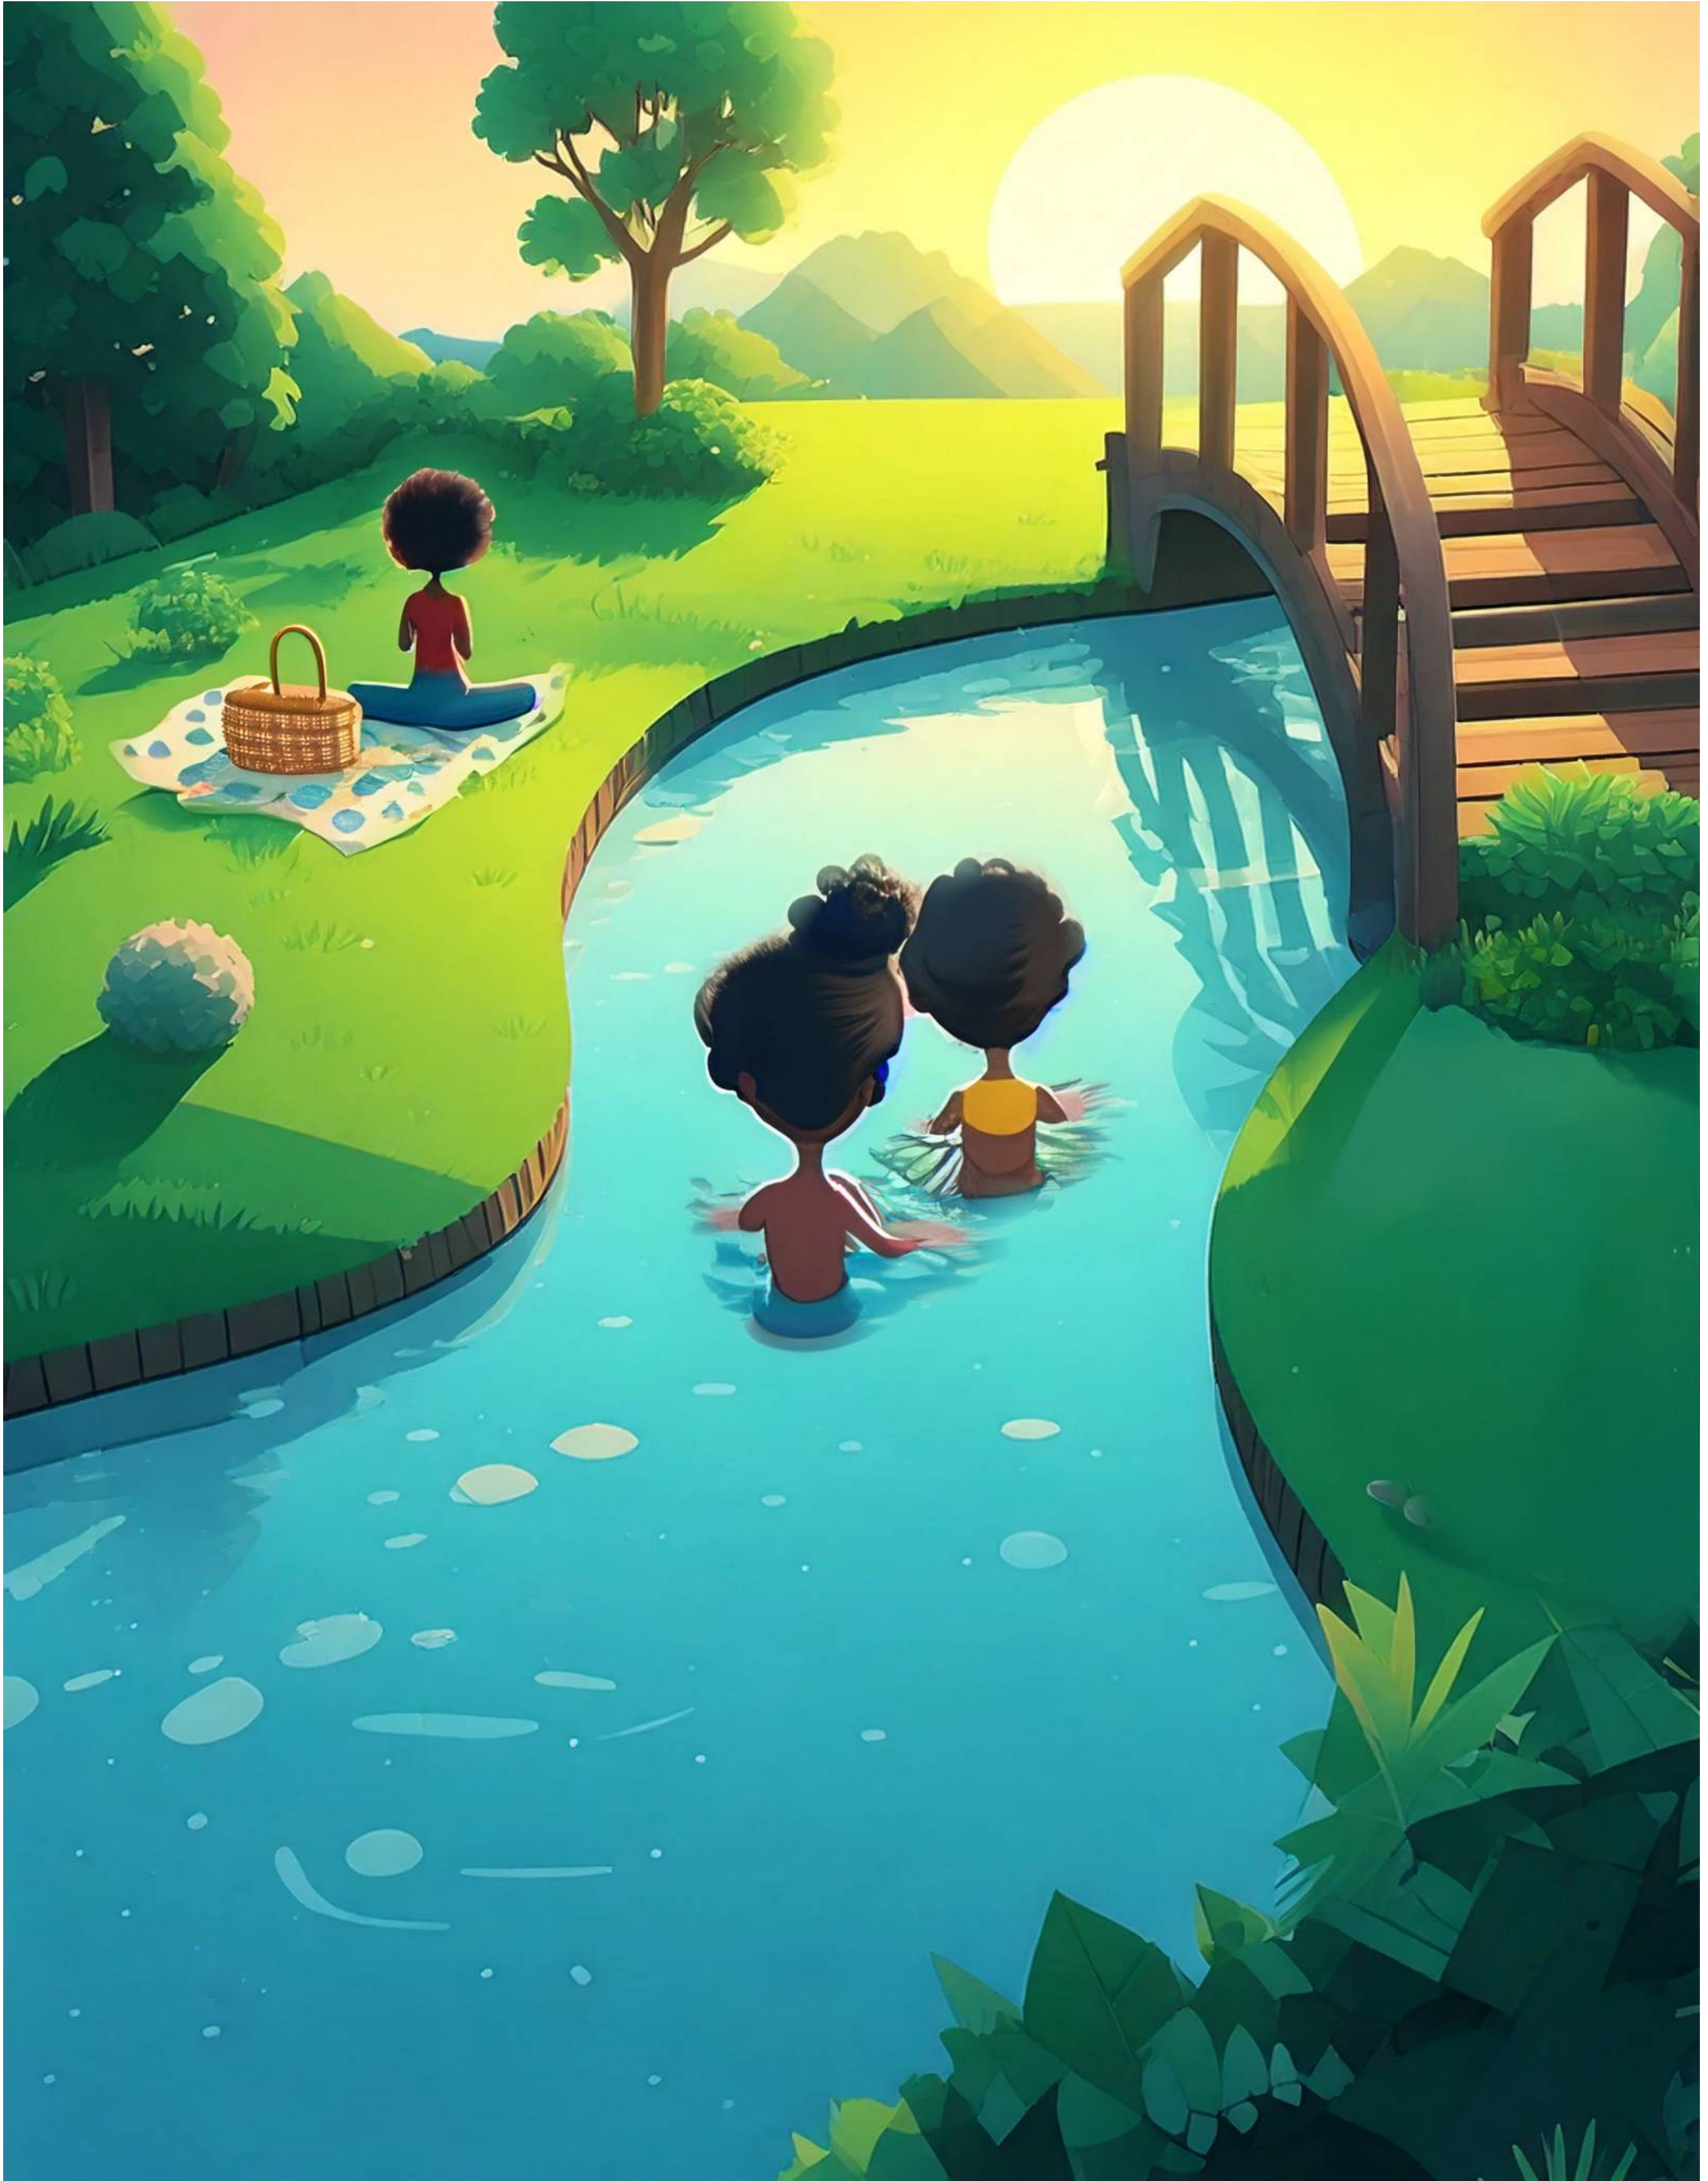

What if there was no bridge?

Would they go over the river?
NO!

Could they go under the river?
NO!

They would go through the water in the river.

How should the train get to the other side of the tunnel?

Could it go over the tunnel?
NO!

Could it go under the tunnel?
NO!

It goes through the tunnel of course!

How should the rooster get past the haystack to reach the cow?

Should he go over the haystack?
NO!

Could he go under the haystack?
NO!

The rooster goes around the haystack!