

Getting to Know Your Family

At AAI, getting to know your family is paramount. Our journey together is a collaborative process. Once we receive your referral, our Client Onboarding Specialist will contact you to guide you through the steps required to start services. After your insurance approves our service we will thoroughly assess your child's strengths, interests, and their developmental needs. Goals will then be established, submitted to your insurance. Once approved services can begin.

Our services include: Direct support provided by a Certified Registered Behavior Technician (RBT). Supervision provided by a Board Certified Behavior Analyst (BCBA), and Parent Training.

Why Applied Behavior Analysis?

Scientific Basis: ABA is rooted in behaviorist theories which emphasize the study and alteration of observable behaviors. This scientific approach provides a structured method for assessing and improving specific behaviors.

Customization: ABA programs are highly customizable. Therapists can tailor interventions to meet the unique needs of each individual based on their specific behaviors, skills, interests, and family dynamics.

Skill Development: ABA focuses on skill-building in areas such as communication, social skills, self-care, and academic performance. By breaking down complex skills into manageable steps, ABA helps individuals achieve practical competencies that can significantly improve their daily functioning.

Behavior Modification: ABA techniques are effective in reducing challenging behaviors, such as self-injury or aggression, by identifying the root causes of these behaviors (often through functional assessments) and applying strategies to modify them.

Positive Reinforcement: One of the core strategies in ABA is the use of positive reinforcement to encourage desirable behaviors. When behaviors are followed by something that is valued (rewards), those behaviors are more likely to occur in the future.

Measurable Goals and Outcomes: ABA relies on data-driven methods that allow therapists and caregivers to track progress and make evidence-based decisions about future interventions.

Improved Social Interactions: By focusing on social skills, ABA helps individuals navigate and improve interactions with others, which is crucial for personal and educational success.

Parent and Caregiver Involvement: ABA often involves training for parents and caregivers, equipping them with the skills to continue therapy techniques at home, which enhances learning and consistency across environments.

Locations for Services Provided:

AAI has dedicated clinics in Rutland VT, Augusta GA, and Clearlake CA. In addition to our clinic service, AAI provides comprehensive in-home and school-based intervention throughout each state. This allows us to further our mission of delivering personalized, high-quality behavioral intervention and support to more families and communities across each state.

Service Designs

- In-Clinic Support: Our clinics offers a specialized, structured environment for autism care. We provide comprehensive Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) therapies aimed at improving behavioral, social, and communication skills. Our facility features individual therapy rooms and group activity areas tailored for diverse learning experiences. Clients benefit from personalized plans developed by certified professionals, ensuring targeted interventions in a controlled setting ideal for skill acquisition and minimizing distractions.
- In-Home Support: AAI's in-home support is customized to enhance learning in the comfort and familiarity of your child's own home. This approach supports real-time behavior management and skill application during daily activities such as play, meals, and community interaction. It also involves family directly in the therapeutic process, fostering essential consistency and continuity of care. Our therapists help generalize skills to various settings, aiding social adaptation and independence.
- Preschool/Daycare/School Support: Our support extends to preschool, daycare, and school settings, where we collaborate closely with educational staff to integrate ABA strategies that support your child's learning and behavioral goals. This includes on-site ABA services and staff training to ensure a consistent approach across all environments, enhancing the educational experience and promoting positive social interactions. Note: Agreement with school or daycare is required.
- Parent Training/Consultation: We offer Parent Training and Consultation services either in-person or via Telehealth. These sessions are designed to empower families with the knowledge and skills needed to support intervention strategies effectively. Our team collaborates closely with you, providing the necessary tools to navigate and implement agreed-upon behavioral targets successfully.

Referral Process

The referral process is rather straight forward. Some children are referred to AAI by the child's pediatrician, the child's diagnostician, however most are referred by the child's guardian/parent. If your child has received a documented medical autism diagnosis feel free to reach out. We'll walk you through the process.

It is a state mandate that if a child receives a medical diagnosis of autism, then he or she is eligible to receive Applied Behavior Analytic services. AAI is contracted with the state's Medicaid program and most other commercial insurances.

We are more than happy to discuss this further with you or your medical team.

Funding Sources:

- State Medicaid and MCOs
- Commercial Insurances (e.g., Aetna, Blue Cross, Anthem, MVP Health, Optum, etc)
- Regional Centers of California
- School District Contracts
- Private pay

Exceptional Support Where You Need It Most

AAI is dedicated to reaching communities with limited access to essential behavioral support. Our team of professionals and the innovative use of technology ensure we deliver top-notch services, no matter where you are.

Expert Supervision and Direct Support:

Our service model thrives on a dynamic partnership between Board Certified Behavior Analysts (BCBAs) and Registered Behavior Technicians (RBTs) to ensure personalized care. BCBAs, highly qualified professionals with master's or doctoral degrees, meticulously design the service plans, train the team, and supervise the RBTs.

RBTs, who often provide the direct support, are equipped with an iPad. Their iPad has your child's program uploaded, allowing them to implement detailed targets while collecting data. The EMR program we use, which is HIPPA compliant, allows your assigned BCBA to access the data, review progress and update strategies.

RBTs work closely with your family, often daily, under the supervision of BCBAs. BCBA supervision includes 2 hours of oversight for every 10 hours of direct support.

Example: 6 hours of BCBA supervision for a typical 30-hour-per-week program provided by an RBT.

In special cases, some families benefit from the exclusive dedication of a BCBA who provides 100% of the intervention. This model allows for a deep, personalized approach where the BCBA not only designs and supervises the program but also delivers the direct service. Working directly with you child on a predetermined schedule.

Pioneering Telehealth Services:

AAI recognized the value of Telehealth over nine years ago, well before the Covid-19 era. Utilizing this technology allows us to assign a BCBA to your family when in-person support is not available, providing you with ABA services that would otherwise be inaccessible.

As an industry leader in Telehealth, AAI's expertise is not only built on continuous research and years of practical experience but also endorsed by professionals within the ABA/autism community. This recognition by our peers is a testament to our deep understanding and innovative application of Telehealth solutions in ABA therapy.
