

AGRICULTURAL VALUATION AND EXEMPTIONS

The Institute of Assessing Officers, affiliated with the New York State Assessors Association, presents a one-day seminar via Zoom.

9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m., Friday, August 12, 2022

This is an online class. A link to the presentation will be emailed to all registrants before Aug. 29.

You must have a camera and microphone on your device to register for this class. The camera must be on at all times during the class. If you register and attend and do not have a microphone and camera, you will not receive credit and no refund will be given.

Instructor – James Kirsch

This course will discuss methods and tools used in farm valuation and also dive into the agricultural land assessment/exemption program. There is a lot to consider when appraising an agricultural property, including land types and suitability, location, markets for crops, and various building uses. Students will learn about what makes some soils more valuable than others, how to analyze sales data, agricultural building types, and valuation. Attendees will also learn about the agricultural land exemption and building exemptions. Students will work on an exercise in administering an agricultural assessment exemption. This course is intended for any level of assessor/county director.
