

A LEGACY OF FAMILY, FUN & CHAMPIONSHIPS

We're just days away from BRC's 75th Anniversary Celebration, we have the perfect opportunity to celebrate one of the many facets that make our club so unique, including our cherished legacy families and champions.

We have built our club's identity around family bonds, from Lake Lovelace and his three sons to his grandchildren, including current member John Lovelace.

One remarkable example is the Marble family. Dan and Nancy Marble joined BRC in 1969, and their connection to our club runs deep. Dan served as BRC President twice, in 1982 and then 2012.

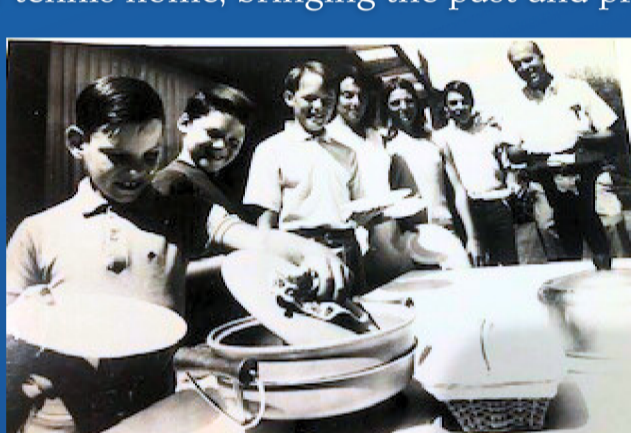

NANCY & DAN MARBLE

One remarkable example is the Marble family. Dan and Nancy Marble joined BRC in 1969, and their connection to our club runs deep. Dan served as BRC President twice, in 1982 and then 2012.

The Marble family's association with BRC extends across generations:

- Son John Marble is a dedicated tennis pro at our club.
- Oliver Marble, his grandson, played tennis here and served as Highland High's tennis coach.
- Son-in-law Chris was a valued member, too.

During the dynamic 1960s and 1970s, the Benham family Herb and Phyllis Benham and their children Mark, Pam, Herb, Derek, Courtney, and Hope were a part of the excitement. Herb III, with his wife Sue, their sons Thomas and Sam, and their grandchildren Nora and Henry, remain members of the BRC family. Four generations of Benhams made BRC their tennis home, bringing the past and present together.

ANNUAL BRC FAMILY POTLUCK
THE BENHAMS

BRC boasts not one, not two, but four families who have clinched National Titles in family divisions - Father-Daughter, Father-Son, Mother-Son, and Grandfather-Grandson.

- Bob and son, Dennis Ralston, BRC's first national champions, in 1962.

- Mike Noel, a true tennis maestro, has won an impressive six titles, including with his dad Dick and mom Mary. Mike and his teenage son Eli have made us proud by placing second and might add another championship to the family tally.

Son and Mom

- With their national title in 2019, John and Jonni Seymour joined the elite ranks.

Dad and Daughter

It is no secret that the Beatty Family has been a powerhouse at BRC, with nine National titles under their belt. In 2002 and 2003, Chuck and his daughter Danon secured their national victories. Ryan, Chuck's son, and his grandfather, Dexter Haymond, clinched their championship in 2003.

The Beattys

In 2021, Chuck coached BRC's 3.0 ladies team to a National title in Florida.

The Bakersfield Heat

We're thrilled as we approach our 75th Anniversary Celebration this Saturday. Get ready for an amazing time!
