

RCNF visit to Amberley Museum - Steam Day 5th July 2025

We had a Grand Day Out, well organised with a rail journey to the site, using discounted travel booked in advance.

The site is reasonably compact, so the exhibits were all accessible within easy reach.

and free rides all day behind a traction engine, and free rides on a Southdown bus.

There were some 20 steam vehicles – traction engines and road rollers, including some miniature versions, a Stanley Steam car, a fairground organ

Not to speak of a narrow gauge Railway, and more free rides along the old tracks!

The site was originally a Lime Works and many exhibits showed remains of the kilns and machinery.

The museum is well supplied with permanent static displays illustrating the history of technology electricity and transport.

A restaurant and snack bars did a good job to keep everyone refreshed. Even a spot of rain did not deter the visitors – we are British after all !!

All in all a great time, much enjoyed by all.
