

I am Lorraine Roberts. I am an author of several books published by Maju Publications. My books are available from the National Library and for sale from this website.

I am Dr Bob Roberts, and my PhD is in education and mathematics (specialising in improving student performance in school algebra). My background is in international teaching, curriculum development and teacher education.

For details see Author Biography in our Blog

Please look at our video below

Have we forgotten?

It will explain, as it takes you through many enchanting natural settings, what Balance With Colour is all about.

Since the beginning of time, Planet Earth has relied on colour to survive.

This video is one in a series of seven short videos that are here on this website and are also on YouTube.