“The Black To School Campaign”

Black America changes

when Black people’s intentions are to change Black America!

We intend to build our own.

So we are therefore going to school to learn how to build our own.

We now go to school to learn how to prepare ourselves for a future. We now go to school to learn how to create services and products for our community.

We now go to school with the intentions and desire to build our own.

How?

Think and find out what you would love to do.

What you would love to study and practice for the rest of your life.

Then immediately, find and contact your local community college or university and make your appointment with an educational counselor.

The educational counselor will assist you with finding out how this new mastery will enable you to provide a service or product for Black people, the Black community, and the world at large.

They will then give you an educational plan with dates and a timeline for becoming a master of your craft.

It begins with our intentions! We intend to build our own.

So we are going to school to learn how to build our own.

This is The Movement !
