NewJeans Legal Battle Officially Begin

The contract dispute between NewJeans and their agency, ADOR, is set to escalate in court on March 7. The Seoul Central District Court will hold a hearing on ADOR's injunction request to prohibit NewJeans members from signing independent advertising deals and pursuing solo activities.

NewJeans declared their contract termination in November 2023 and have since been operating independently, even seeking a new group name. Meanwhile, ADOR is fighting back, asserting the validity of their contract and taking legal action.

📌 Upcoming Key Court Dates:

- Injunction Hearing: March 7
- Contract Validity Trial: April 3

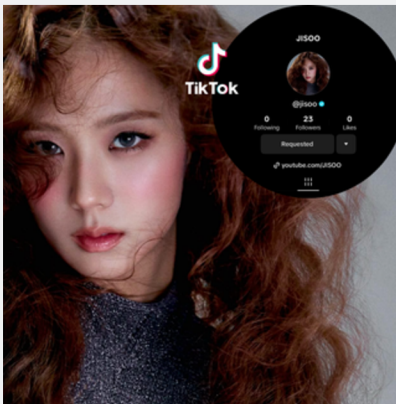

With this high-stakes legal battle shaking up K-pop, how will it unfold? Stay tuned!
