

JOIN OUR MOCK INTERVIEW EVENT

EMPOWERING NEURODIVERGENT TALENT. TRANSFORMING THE HIRING EXPERIENCE.

Ready to make a real difference in someone's career, and in your own hiring approach?

This unique event, designed by NeuroTalent Works (NTW), invites HR professionals and hiring managers to be part of something meaningful: a mock interview experience that empowers neurodivergent students and job seekers with real-world practice using NTW's proven, task-based interview model.

At the same time, you'll gain hands-on insight into a hiring process that has helped top insurers build more inclusive and effective teams for over eight years.

Why You Should Be Part of This

- Give back with purpose: Help talented neurodivergent individuals build confidence and job-readiness.
- Grow your skills: Learn NTW's innovative interview method a powerful tool for more inclusive hiring.
- Lead the change: Be part of a forward-thinking community working to make hiring better for everyone.

Here's How It Works

1. You volunteer as an interviewer (2–4 corporate pros needed).
2. We train you in just one hour before the event, you'll learn our task-based approach to interviewing.
3. You conduct mock interviews with 4–6 neurodivergent participants in a supportive, real-world setting.
4. We handle the logistics, our NTW facilitators will guide you every step of the way.
5. The event is recorded for future learning, sponsorship, and broader impact in the industry.

What We Need From You

- A little time. (Just a 1-hour training and a few hours on event day.)
- A willingness to learn something new.
- A desire to be part of something meaningful.
