

Don't Be Concerned
Jason Hicks
©2009 All Rights Reserved

Don't you worry 'bout me baby
I won't let my sadness grow
I won't feel so disappointed
That my love for you won't show

Turned my back on light before
Watched the shadows growing larger
Played the fool for wanting more
When everything I need is here and now
Let me show you I know how

Don't you worry 'bout me baby
I won't let my sadness grow
I won't feel so disappointed
That my love for you won't show

Turned away enraged again
Losing heart to isolation
Find the truth about the hurt you avoid
If you never know the sorrow
You can hardly feel the joy

Don't you be concerned about me darling
My anger toward the world may wane
I will urge my understanding
To realize we're all the same

Don't you worry 'bout me baby
I won't let my sadness grow
I won't feel so disappointed
That my love for you won't show

Don't you be concerned about me darling
My anger toward the world may wane
I will urge my understanding