Two Mid Line Meridians

Governing Vessel

The first energy current which develops after conception. It serves to govern the development of the other meridians, chakras, organs and the rest of the body's physiology. The spine itself is the material manifestation of this Governing Vessel energy.

Conception Vessel

A channel of life-force energy that exerts an effect on all of the yin channels. Based on Traditional Chinese Medicine theory, yin represents all the cool, watery, passive, inward, resting physiological forces within the body. Because of its action of nourishing the whole body's yin. Symptoms of the Conception Vessel out of balance are often expressed as hot flashes, night sweats, sweaty palms, dry mouth and throat and certain types of anxiety.
