

Rhodes Investment Group ETF Program

About the Program

The Rhodes Investment Group ETF Program is designed to give everyday investors and stakeholders an opportunity to participate in a professionally managed investment strategy focused on long-term growth, stability, and income potential. Built around the power of Exchange-Traded Fund (ETF) investing, the program combines diversified market exposure with a simplified investment structure aimed at helping clients build wealth with confidence.

How It Works

Rhodes Investment Group offers a straightforward investment model centered around a reasonable one-time investment designed to mature over a 3-year term. During this maturity period, funds are strategically allocated into diversified ETF-based investment opportunities intended to maximize growth potential while managing risk exposure. The program is structured to allow investors to benefit from diversified market participation, professionally managed investment strategies, long-term growth opportunities, reduced complexity compared to traditional retirement products, and potential dividend and income generation. At the completion of the 3-year maturity period, stakeholders may have the opportunity to receive returns based on the performance of the investment portfolio, including potential dividend distributions generated throughout the investment cycle.

Benefits of the 3-Year Maturity Structure

- Reasonable Entry Investment – Designed to remain accessible to hardworking individuals looking to build financial momentum without requiring excessively large upfront capital.
- Growth Potential – Through diversified ETF exposure, investors gain access to multiple sectors and market opportunities designed to pursue long-term appreciation.
- Dividend Opportunities – Depending on portfolio performance and market conditions, stakeholders may qualify for dividend payouts or income distributions at the end of the maturity cycle.
- Professional Oversight – Investment allocations are managed with a focus on market awareness, diversification, and strategic positioning.
- Simplified Wealth Building – A clear path toward participation in modern investment opportunities without the confusion often associated with traditional retirement planning.

Vision

Rhodes Investment Group believes financial growth opportunities should be accessible to everyday people — not just large institutions or Wall Street insiders. The ETF Program was created to help individuals take control of their future through disciplined investing, strategic diversification, and long-term financial vision.

Important Disclosure

All investments involve risk, including possible loss of principal. Returns and dividend distributions are not guaranteed and depend on market conditions and portfolio performance. Investors should carefully review all offering materials and consult with a licensed financial or legal professional before investing.