

I have known and interacted with Mark for 2 decades. I worked with Mark as a co-project lead and more recently as a collaborator in a start-up company. Mark is an extraordinary talented medicinal chemist. He is experienced in the design and synthesis of small molecules, in selection and optimization of leads with drug-like properties and he understands how to position leads within the competitive landscape. He is a thoughtful and engaging scientist who asks challenging questions. He has mentored both me and several members of my team. I could not recommend Mark highly enough.
