

I have had the pleasure to work with Mark in his role consulting for ADRx for over four years. He has impacted the company immeasurably with the vast experience he brings not only as a medicinal chemist, but as a manager, scientist, strategist, and leader. He has been a great help to the company with his input and intuition on scientific projects beyond just chemistry. Mark has a deep understanding of biology and biochemistry that make him a unique and special member for any team and project.
