Subject: Notice Regarding Legal Process

Hello,

Google is in receipt of the attached preservation request. We understand you are seeking preservation of subscriber records and email content related to the accounts specified in your request. Accordingly, we have preserved such records, to the extent such data exists.

Please note: after a diligent search and reasonable inquiry, we have found no records for any Google account-holder(s) identified as [REDACTED] as specified in your request. Therefore, we do not have documents responsive to your request.

In accordance with 18 U.S.C. 2703(f), Google will retain these records for a period of 90 days, after which they may be subject to deletion. The statute also allows one 90-day extension upon request. If you wish to extend preserved records for an additional 90 days, please submit a request for an extension prior to the expiration of the initial 90-day period.

If you send subsequent legal process seeking production of previously preserved data, please specify in the body of your legal process that you are requesting the production of preserved data and reference Google's case number (listed in the subject line of this email) in your request.

This email does not require your response. Please limit any replies to questions regarding this preservation request.

Regards,
Google Legal Investigations Support

Hello,

We have received your preservation request. According to our records, we already received a preservation request from you regarding the same target account(s) within the past 90 days. The account was preserved pursuant to the original preservation request. Should you wish to extend the preservation at the end of the 90-day period, you may seek an extension at that time.

You may reply directly to this email to either withdraw the most recent request and/or to send in a preservation extension request at the appropriate time. Please note that we do not preserve an account multiple times within the same 90-day period.

Regards,
Google Legal Investigations Support

This is an automated response.

The USLawEnforcement@google.com address is exclusively for submission of criminal law enforcement requests from an agency in the U.S. We take requests to this email address very seriously. Requests for additional confirmation that we have received your request are not necessary and may further delay our ability to respond to your request.

When Google receives a government request for information about a user's account, it is Google's policy to notify the user before information is disclosed, unless such notice is prohibited by law. Prior to notifying the user, we will take steps to preserve the information you requested and are entitled to in accordance with the type of legal process submitted.

If you are not pursuing a criminal case on behalf of a law enforcement agency in the U.S., please refer to <https://support.google.com/faqs/answer/6151275> regarding how to serve Google with legal process and disregard the remainder if this communication.

If you have not sent your request from an official government-issued email address or if you are not a law enforcement agent submitting a request pursuant to a criminal investigation, you may not receive a reply.
