From the director...

Ladies and Gentlemen,

It is my pleasure to welcome you to Queen's Musical Theatre's production of Reefer Madness! For the past few months it has been my privilege to collaborate with the incredible talents and efforts of our cast, band, creative, and technical teams. I cannot express how proud and humbled I am by the incredible talent that has been put into this show.

Reefer Madness is based off of the 1936 propaganda film "Tell Your Children". The film featured a depiction of the startling effects of marihuana on the youth of America. It would become a cult classic upon its re-release in the 1970s, having been re-edited and colourized. With over-the-top claims of violence, emotional mood swings, and manic dancing, the film dives quickly into the realm of camp. The musical keeps in the tradition of the camp and craze, poking fun at propaganda and sensationalism.

You are about to witness a special presentation of "The Harper Affair": a true story detailing the shocking madcap descent of youth into madness. Though the music and dancing may seem harmless, something sinister lies in wait. Be prepared to be shocked...to be entertained...and to be informed...

Else you may be the next to fall to Reefer Madness!

Joey Graff
