BIO

Jamar “J Haleem” Washington is an author, nationally-published and award-winning corporate and commercial photographer, serial entrepreneur, business coach, motivational speaker, and corporate trainer. J Haleem was born and raised in Newark, New Jersey where his interest in being an entrepreneur was birthed. While in college, J Haleem became a convicted felon. Because of his challenged background, he was never able to get the corporate job his degree warranted, even though he graduated with honors. It was at that moment that he chose entrepreneurship to be the platform on which he would establish himself. June 2021, almost 18 years to the date, J Haleem was pardoned by the state of South Carolina. Now, with more than 20 years of experience as an entrepreneur; his 501c3 organization, I Won't Starve Academy provides education and training for entrepreneurs and career development focused on creating successful intrapreneurs.

As a motivational speaker and corporate trainer, J Haleem uses his own personal experiences to motivate & connect with audiences on a variety of platforms. He motivates individuals with challenged backgrounds, on how they can TRANSFORM their skill sets into business ownership opportunities. He INSPIRES aspiring entrepreneurs to transition to becoming full-time business owners. Lastly, His message EXPOSES his audience to the reality that they have the power to transition from surviving to thriving.

J Haleem is a graduate of Benedict College in Columbia, South Carolina where he received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration with a concentration in Management & Entrepreneurship, he is a certified facilitator by the Kauffman Group, certified trainer by the Association of Talent Development, and certified professional coach through the Center for Coaching Certification. He is a 2016 graduate of KAUFFMAN FASTTRAC and now facilitates the FASTTRAC Entrepreneur Development class for his own company I Won't Starve Academy, a 501c3 nonprofit and Midlands Technical College. He is a member of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity Incorporated. J Haleem volunteers his services to a variety of community organizations.

BOOKS

In #UWontStarve: Key Principles for Entrepreneur Development, Author J Haleem gives his readers an in-depth look into the five principles that he used to start his very successful business seven years ago. Those principles are Hustle While You Work, Market Research, Doing Business on Your Own Level, Networking, and Strategic Alliances. Each principle has step-by-step processes you will be able to follow along with identifying the impact on workforce generations to include Gen Zers, Millennials, and Baby Boomers.

BOOKS

2020 was one of the most trying years of our generation. Near the end of that year, J Haleem was inspired to produce daily motivational videos to inspire his social media friends and followers. Feeling as though he wanted to create something more substantial, he decided to release his third book, Morning Motivation: Consistent Encouragement Through a Crisis, so that individuals could have with them a way to fight through the crisis they are currently facing. With this book, motivation is within your reach whenever you need that word of encouragement.

BOOKS

In Business Corner: What's Really Needed to Survive the Entrepreneurial Fight, J Haleem is discussing the importance of having a support system. Pinpointing those crucial times in your entrepreneur journey when you must rely on your support system, and the responsibility the community has to create a solid support system around its entrepreneurs and visionaries.
