June 2023 Newsletter

Hello, ACF Philly Chefs, we are winding up the Spring and many of us are preparing for a summer with our family and friends. In the meantime, the ACF Philly Board of Directors and Committee Chairs are planning and organizing events for Fall 2023. In case you have not heard, these are some events we are planning.

July Hatboro Horsham Car Show- Food Sales to build our Charities Fund and Operating Budget

September 9 & 10th -Kennett Square Mushroom Festival Food Sales to build our charities fund and Operating Budget

Mushroom scrapple anyone? Attended by thousands of people looking for ways to prepare mushrooms, we shall have more.

www.eventeny.com/events/mushroomfestival-4818

Fall Chopped Competition for Students with guidance of Allyssa Termini C-CAP at a local Culinary School

October or November - Chefs Table Fundraising Event- location is in the planning stage Chefs will prepare appetizers and courses – Chef volunteers needed, Sponsorships are needed for food, beverages, and entertainment. We need everyone to help to make this a profitable event. And to build our presence in the Delaware Valley Area through social media sharing and emails for associates about upcoming events once the dates are established.

Help us rebuild the industry.

Members will be asked to sell events tickets or provide us with emails to whom we can send invitations.

THANK YOU!

To President Danny Liberatscioli, staff, chefs and students at Walnut Hill College for the education about Culinary Leadership, wonderful meal and hosting our May meeting. Presentation by Dr. Joshua Seery about Leading Your Culinary team/Staff was terrific seeing members that have not been to our meetings in awhile. We look forward to doing more with the team and students at Walnut Hill College of Culinary Arts.

Scholarships presented by ACF Philadelphia-DVCA Charities

4 scholarships were awarded at the May Meeting at Walnut Hill College:

Brianna Levenberg going to Johnson and Wales, fall 2023

Thomas Bridges going to Walnut Hill College, fall 2023

Tracey Bates attending Rowan College

Michael Hawkins attending Rowan College

Congratulations all!
