JULY 15th - Western Dressage, Dressage & Western Pleasure

Mary Linton and Dallas

Cowgirl – As a member of Sunrise Equestrian Sports, I have had the pleasure of hosting many all-discipline dressage clinics and shows over the last 6 years.

Currently, I am training with Beth Schaub, Sue Hughes, and Suzanne Morisse both virtually and in person. I am also enrolled in the 36 weeks online What, Why, How course through Ritter Dressage.

Currently, I am riding and showing two amazing horses. Morris is a 25-year-old Quarter Horse. He tolerates western dressage and has been shown in Intro and Basic levels, but his real love is trail class. He is a calm, laid back horse who takes care of his rider and loves attention.

Dallas Cowgirl is a 19-year-old APHA mare. We are currently showing Basic and Level I Western Dressage with the goal to move up to Level 2 next year. She is a very kind horse who tries hard to do everything asked of her and is a willing partner on my journey to become a better rider.

Sue Schmidt – Dressage

Sue became a member of Western Dressage of America-Michigan Affiliate in 2019. With her mare, Spirit, they have received the following year end awards:

2019 Live Shows Season: Grand Champion First Level Western Dressage (earning their first buckle).

Reserve Champion: First level

Bronze Medal for Basic and First Level

They are currently training Second Level and will continue to show at First Level this year. Western Dressage has given them the opportunity to learn and although not perfect, their partnership becomes stronger with every ride.

Pennie Wahoski – Western Pleasure

I bought my first Paint horse when I was fresh out of high school and have been raising and riding them since.

All of my kids have shown horses but especially my daughter Deana. We had a lot of fun showing together on the NEMAHC circuit. Now I am enjoying camping and trail riding with my grandkids. I am told that there are people who live their whole lives without horses. I don't see how that can be possible.

July 22nd – Amy Elizabeth Photography

Hello there! I am a professional photographer in northern Michigan! I have been photographing people professionally since 2010. I started out with film cameras way back in college and then my first digital camera was a Sony Cybershot! In 2008 I knew I wanted to grow my photography skills and purchased my first real "big girl" camera. That camera, a Nikon d80, fueled my passion for taking pictures and soon I went from taking photos of my kids and our pets to getting in front of strangers to document their personality and important moments in their life! I used to show horses competitively until my photography business took over. Horses were probably some of my earliest subjects in front of my camera! Today, my camera gear and I photograph wedding days and portrait photography such as high school seniors, sweet families, and maternity. I have also been known to create professional headshots for women entrepreneurs and mentor photographers who want to up level their business!

I have a daughter who is currently attending CMU, a son in heaven and two adult stepchildren. My husband and I share our home with two neurotic cats and three dogs who pretty much have become our "children covered in fur". We are both self-employed, living on 20 acres surrounded by a wooded paradise. If I'm not out camping with my husband, you will find me running 5Ks, hiking mountains out west or chasing sunsets.

July 29, 2021 – Natural Horsemanship with Morgan Greene

I love and have grown up with horses my entire life. I enjoy growing and learning along with them. Every time I work with horses, I walk away knowing there was something I could do to help them understand. I quickly realized that working with horses is my passion and I absolutely love what I do. Natural Horsemanship is about building a relationship with your horse and allowing them to figure out the puzzles without micromanaging. This relationship is the foundation to creating relaxation within unfamiliar situations. These situations are easier to handle when you see your horse as an individual and understand how they respond. I have followed this philosophy with every horse I have worked with and have found great success. I have worked with level 3, 4, 5 and 6 Natural Horsemanship Instructors and have participated in many clinics.

I am excited to show you a beginner prospect that has little to no handling in this philosophy. Later, I will demonstrate the results of a horse that has grown up learning Natural Horsemanship.

August 5th – Crystal Seelye – Magnawave Therapy

My business is called Elite Edge Therapy. A certified Magnawave Practitioner for small animal, equine, and humans. I am very excited to share my journey with you about MagnaWave and PEMF (Pulsed Electro Magnetic Field). I also offer cold laser therapy which is an added benefit and compliments a PEMF treatment. MagnaWave/PEMF therapy optimizes the cells ability to heal and regulate the body for enhanced health. Magna-Wave is used by doctors, veterinarians, chiropractors, professional athletes, and MagnaWave certified practitioners. It promotes overall wellness for humans and animals. Great information here to help give you an in-depth look.

Abby Franklin – Massage Therapy – Kinesio Taping (Muscular Taping)

I have been involved with horses all my life. I started out showing pleasure and trail riding. A couple of years ago, I switched disciplines to barrel racing and entering rodeos. It is important to me that my horses feel their best so they can give me their best. In January, I attended an equine therapy school in Indiana. I became certified in equine massage, raindrop therapy, and muscle taping. It is very rewarding seeing the benefits of equine therapy and I am excited to share the benefits of Equine Massage – Raindrop Therapy and Muscle Taping.
