

JESSICA LEWIS

Jessica Lewis is an ambitious self-made businesswoman and serial entrepreneur from Philadelphia, PA with a track record of Real Estate, Management Consulting, Project Management, Public Speaking, Corporate Training, and Commercial Lending.

Jessica is also the CEO/Co-founder of Mobu Enterprises where she and her business partner, Ibrahim Smith have shifted the perspective of traditional housing by building disaster-resistant homes out of shipping containers, also known as "green construction."

In her business, the multifaceted entrepreneur focuses on supporting cross-functional teams to increase customer satisfaction through process improvements, which cuts the development time in half, making Mobu Enterprises one of the most efficient black-owned companies building shipping container homes in less than 90 days with a comprehensive team of general contractors, engineers, and interior design team making them a one-stop-shop for build-outs.

As a highly respected professional, Jessica Lewis has exceptional knowledge of developing strategic plans for service excellence. She's fostered deep work-related relationships with national and international contacts, making her a Global Influencer.

With over 20 years of experience, Jessica demonstrates great leadership, she knows how to close deals with qualified leads, and she is a capable and consistent problem-solver skilled at prioritizing and managing projects with proficiency.

The multifaceted business mogul is definitely a force to be reckoned with as well as she's progressive-minded and in tune with new developments in her industry.