Day Two Homework Sheet

This worksheet is for people who are serious about turning AI into income, not just ideas. If you completed the Day Two prompt, use this sheet to pressure-test your positioning and make it usable.

Step 1: Lock Your One-Sentence Positioning

Write one sentence that clearly explains what you do, who it is for, and the outcome you help create. If it takes more than one sentence, it is not clear enough.

My One-Sentence Positioning:

Step 2: Define the Problem You Actually Solve

Be specific. Avoid vague language like help, support, or assist. Name the real problem that costs time, money, or opportunity.

The specific problem I solve is:
Who experiences this problem?
What happens if this problem stays unsolved?

Step 3: Identify the Monetization Angle

This is where most people freeze. Do not overthink it. You are not building a business empire today. You are identifying one paid solution that logically follows your positioning.

One AI-powered offer or service I could realistically sell:
Who would pay for this first?
Why would they choose this over other options?

Final Check

If you can explain what you do, who it's for, and how it makes money in under 30 seconds, you're positioned correctly. If not, refine before adding more tools.

This homework is optional, but the people who complete it are the ones who convert ideas into income.
