About Our Law Firm:

We are an intellectual property law firm in Washington D.C. Individuals and corporations have counted on us for maximum protection and enforcement of their intellectual property rights. Clients around the world value our expertise in:

- Utility, design and plant patents
- Trademarks, service marks, logos, trade names and domain names
- Copyright of literary, musical, artistic and architectural works and industrial arts
- Litigation & Dispute Resolution in U.S. and internationally
- Licensing and technology transfer in U.S. and internationally
- Trade secrets protection

We Have Extensive Experiences in Global IP Protection

We filed many U.S. and foreign patent applications as well as U.S. and foreign trademarks. We've also successfully prosecuted hundreds of patent and trademark appeals; patent interferences, reexaminations and reissues; and trademark opposition and cancellation proceedings. We offer a strong array of technical expertise in all major disciplines-from chemical, mechanical, biotech and electrical engineering, to electronics, computer science, entertainment and the medical arts.

We Speak Your Language

We offer our professional services in English and other languages in timely and cost-effective manner. We believe having the capacity to communicate with you can save time and clarify more directly and effectively any nuance that otherwise might be lost in translation, especially technology matters.

We Have Global Network and Convenient Office Location

Our global network of intellectual property professionals can provide clients protection in nearly all countries. Our downtown Washington, D.C. location means we are just minutes from the federal agencies and courts critical to our clients' business, including the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, the U.S. Copyright Office, the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Contact Attorney:

Jiwen Chen, Managing Attorney, Patent Attorney, Trademark Attorney

Mr. Chen has over twenty years' practice experience. Mr. Chen's intellectual property law practice encompasses all phases of patent and trademark protection and litigation including preparation of original patent applications; patent prosecution and trademark registration; preparation of opinions on patentability, infringement and validity; client counseling; portfolio strategy and management, licensing and litigation in U.S., Asia and internationally. His working experience covers the technical areas of chemical, biotechnology, pharmaceutical, bioinformatics, medical devices, mechanical, electronics, telecommunication software and other patent fields. He has conducted appeals before the Patent Trial and Appeal Board of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, and has been involved in proceedings before the European, Canadian and Chinese Patent Offices for both U.S. and foreign clients. In addition, he conducted research on technology transfer at the National Institute of Health Office of Technology Transfer. Mr. Chen also served as a summer law clerk for the Honorable Joseph A. Greenaway, Jr. of the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey.

Mr. Chen's international practice includes advising clients on intellectual property protection, technology transfer, corporate and international trade matters related to Asia. He previously worked in Washington D.C. office of a general practice U.S. law firm, an intellectual property law firm and Shanghai offices of a Chinese law firm. He advised major U.S. companies on legal strategies for their business formation and IP protection in Asia in telecommunication, pharmaceutical and herbicide fields. With his training, experience and network in both U.S. and Asia, Mr. Chen has successfully assisted U.S. clients with IP due diligence, application, transaction and enforcement involving China, Taiwan, Korea, Japan and Hong Kong, and assisted Asian clients with the same issues involving the U.S.

Mr. Chen has written numerous articles on intellectual property laws and practices. His article on jurisdiction over patent-law counterclaims after U.S. Supreme Court's Holmes Group decision was published in Northwestern Journal of Technology and Intellectual Property (2009, Vol. 8, No. 1). His research on effective strategies for marketing biomedical inventions was published in Journal of Medical Marketing (2005, Vol. 4, No. 5). His articles on Chinese patent and copyright laws, technology transfer and litigation were published in University of Richmond Law School's Richmond Journal of Global Law & Business (2001, Vol. 2, No. 61), China Business Review of the U.S.-China Business Council (November 2001, Vol. 28, No. 5).

Mr. Chen has been a frequent speaker on intellectual property protection in U.S. and Asia. Mr. Chen is also a member of the Task Force of the American Bar Association advising China Intellectual Property Office on the 3rd amendment to Chinese Patent Law.
