

Trayvon Benjamin Martin did Stand-His-Ground 9.26.2012, and challenged his unknown killer. Trayvon B. Martin did so as it is his constitutional right to:

- 1) Not be a target.
- 2) Not be stalked and hunted.
- 3) Not be executed in cold blood.
- 4) Not bring an exigent threat back to those he loved and stood to protect.
- 5) Not be denied safe passage based purely on the killer's knowledge he could kill an African American because the United States of America promotes systemic violence.
- 6) Not be killed because the shooter knew the community's bias would not convict on the legal basis of murder, or felonious homicide. Counter to the founding documents of the United States of America.
- 7) Not have his Civil Rights extinguished because of hate and racial bias.
- 8) Not have any of his constitutional rights denied on any level as laid out by the common people who penned the Constitution of the United States of America, and modified by the common citizens of this Nation for a clear and just existence for each individual.
